Pam,
You're really a nice sweet kid, unless you're riding something! Hope to see you next year in some of my classes!
Good luck in the future.

I am so a nice kid I knew for almost day but still think is very nice Colorado. ^I have fun
in drama room. ^I have fun

Pam,

To someone who has a beautiful

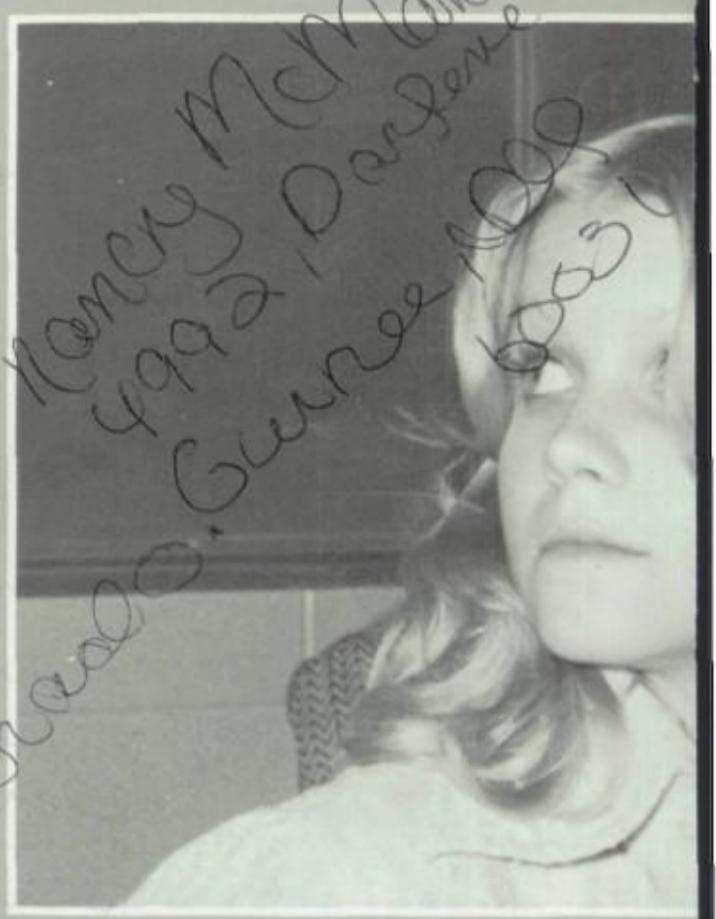

I am sure glad I met you.
I wish you didn't have to move and as soon as you get to Denver you better write me. We really had fun together this year and you are really nice. P.S. This is you playing baseball.

I'm two different people; sometimes I feel like four or five. I'm an individual with my friends, a face with teachers, a small pink card down in the office, It's so lonely just to be myself ...

Tom,
Good Luck in your new school.
Ann

To Tom,
I hope you have a good year in Collegiate.

Tom,
Meeting you was a real experience. I'm just kidding. I'm gonna miss ya. Have fun this summer drop us a line sometime See ya,

"We spent a lot of money on it, and it was worth it." "A lot of people said we've got the best decorated Mil Ball they've ever seen — because of the parachutes on the ceiling." "For the cadets it's the most important event of the year. It's our ball. We put up all the decorations and do all the work." "I went because I was on special detail for the queen's court and besides I had a girl and she wanted to go because she's in ROTC." "I didn't go because I just didn't feel like going to this dance."

There's Nobody Just Like You

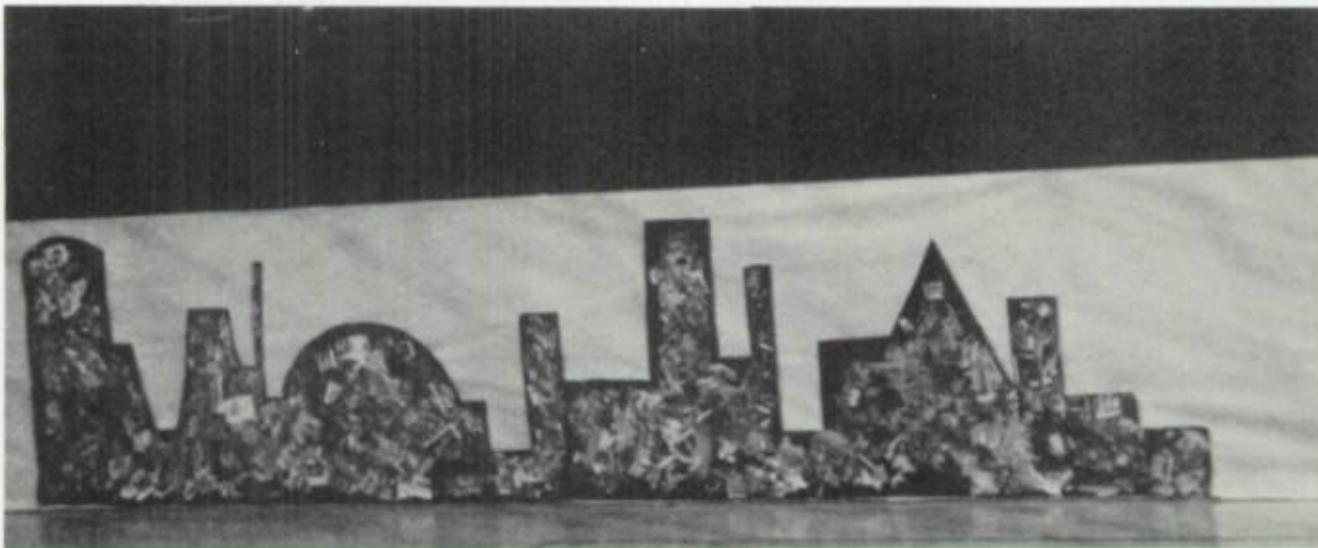

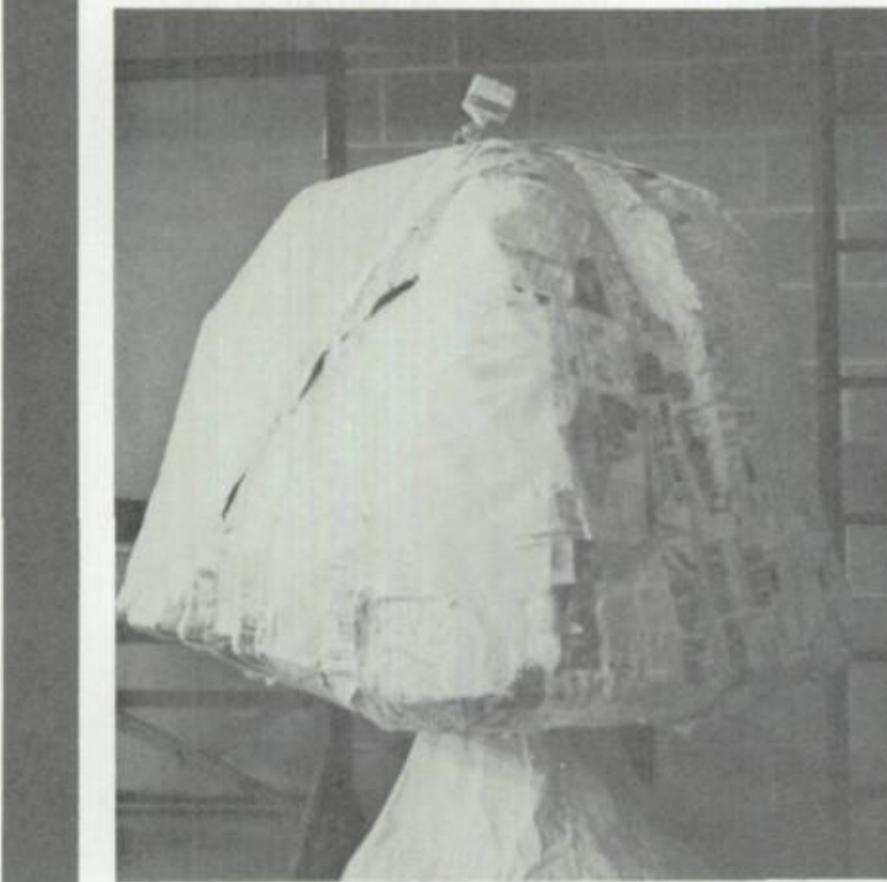

"Since when do girls get up enough nerve to go up to a guy they like and ask him to a dance?" (J.S.) "I really felt like a fool asking the guy I liked. At first, I thought it would be easy. Then every time I saw him, I'd get embarrassed. Now I know why the guys feel so stupid when they ask a girl out." "You are so afraid of being turned down that you don't even bother to ask." "When I was little I always thought what fun it would be if I could only be older. But when you become older you get disillusioned about things like Turnabout. Somewhere in the back of your mind you think about all the time you've looked forward to this one night and it doesn't seem real." "I didn't get all upset about not being asked. In a way I was really relieved that I wasn't." "Disgusting ... it was a formality. I didn't have the guts to tell her I didn't want to go." "It hurts to be turned down."

Imagine

"Prom is different because you get all dressed up. But, it's unnatural for all the kids to run around for one night and act like Amy Vanderbilt and Prince Charming." "Prom . . . spending your life's earnings." "When we were decorating and things got bad, I would just think of Mr. Strahan's loud-mouthed frog joke and laugh at the people who sat there and complained." "I was so tired at about 3:30 that I fell asleep with that stupid bowling ball in my lap." "I'll always remember Prom because it was Prom."

"I think that the best thing about Homecoming is that I get out of all my classes to decorate the gym." "Homecoming is still special to me because it lets you see all the kids that really care about the school." "During the game all I could see was a huge mass of confetti. It was a different feeling ... like snow only with a little bit of the cold that goes with snow." "Sometimes kids make too much of it. I'd rather go out on a regular date, because if I cared about the girl, I'd want her to know and I'd show her that I do care." "I don't think that I've ever been so tired as on Homecoming. You look forward to all the excitement of it and by the time you get to the dance you are so dead that you can't even appreciate it."

Freshman Representative Kip Drayton

The Doctor in Spite of Himself

"I quit three days ahead of the first dress rehearsal, but everyone said they wanted to kill me if I didn't show up. I finally showed up at the last dress rehearsal." (Larry Sorensen) "Practices were fun because we'd goof off all the time, and I guess it showed." "The best part of it all was to see Hankins and Laux ad-lib and bull their way through a whole scene. They even did it during the play." "Plays at Warren have never been spectacular. The reason is that kids don't like to get up on that stage and try being someone else. They live in their own little worlds and are afraid of being laughed at. They care too much about what people think about them." "Don't mention it because I don't even want to think of what they called a play." "The scenery wasn't done on time, and the costumes weren't even done. What was worse was that we had to pay for the costumes from our own pockets." "It turned out like all the other plays of this school — totally unorganized."

What Do You Say to a Naked

Gorilla?

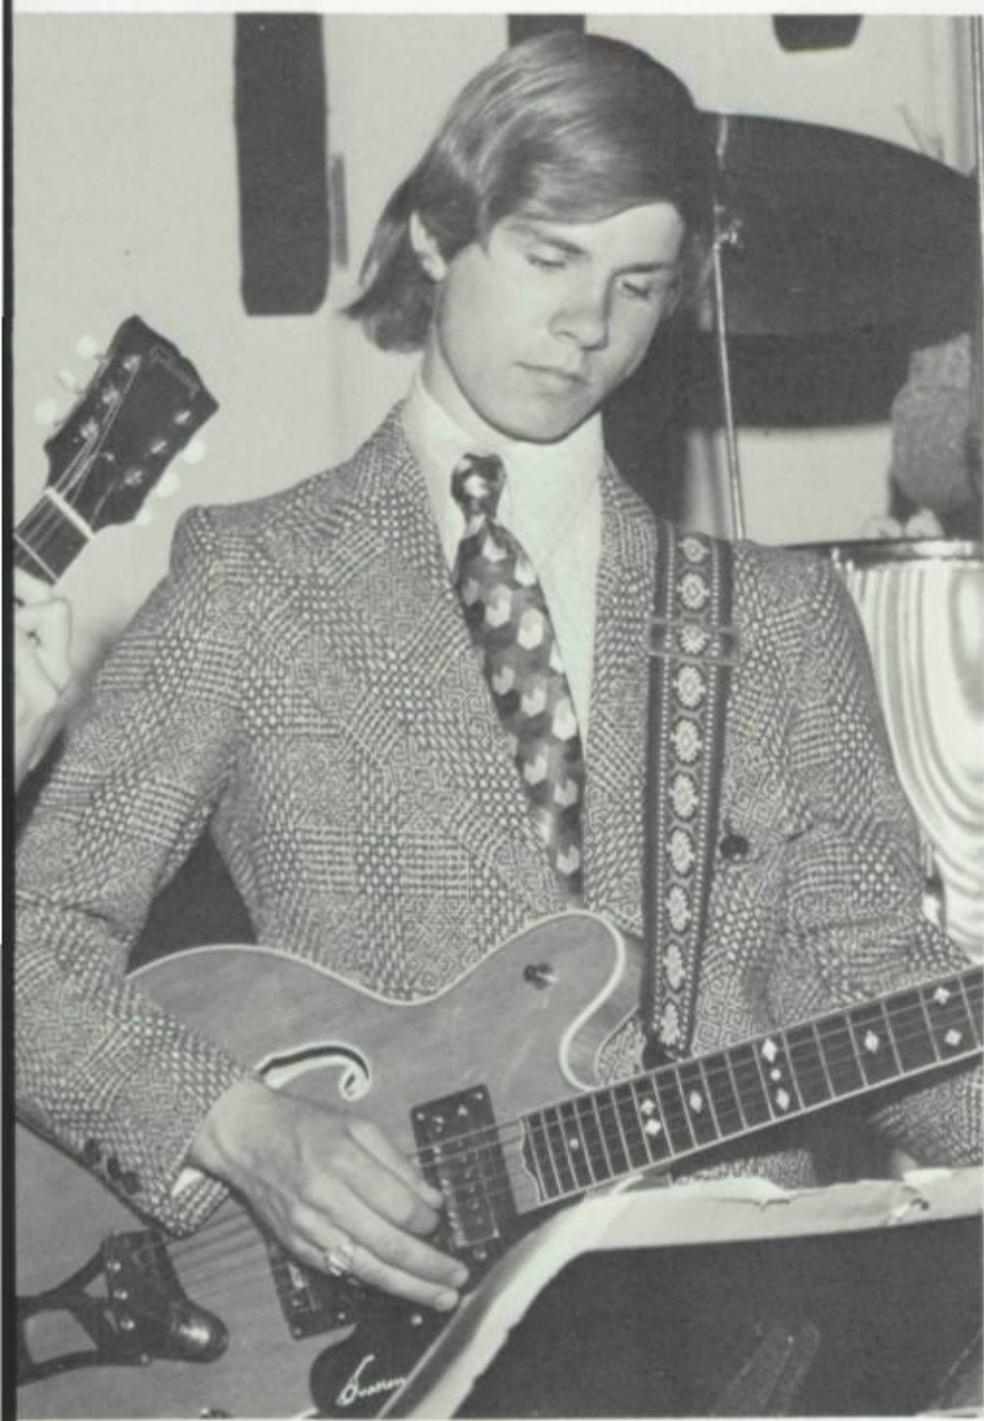

"I think writing the chorus show was the best fun. We must have rewritten it about 40 different times. I know that Mr. Myren didn't appreciate that, but we couldn't help it." "The only reason that I got a part in it was because I could scream the loudest. I never even practiced." (Robin Walker) "Rice Krispies all over the floor not snap, crackling or popping, but just sort of a dull crunch, crunch as you walk all over them." "The scenery wasn't going to be done in time, so we all ran around painting jungle scenes all over the place." "When they started spreading all the black make-up on my face, in the back of my mind I wondered if it would come off. I find that six hours of scrubbing helps, but it also rips half of your skin off in the process." "We all knew that they wouldn't memorize their lines until dress rehearsal. I was waiting for them to ask in the middle of the play 'What are my next lines?'" "The cast party?" "A lot of work went into it because we liked what we were doing."

Serenade to You

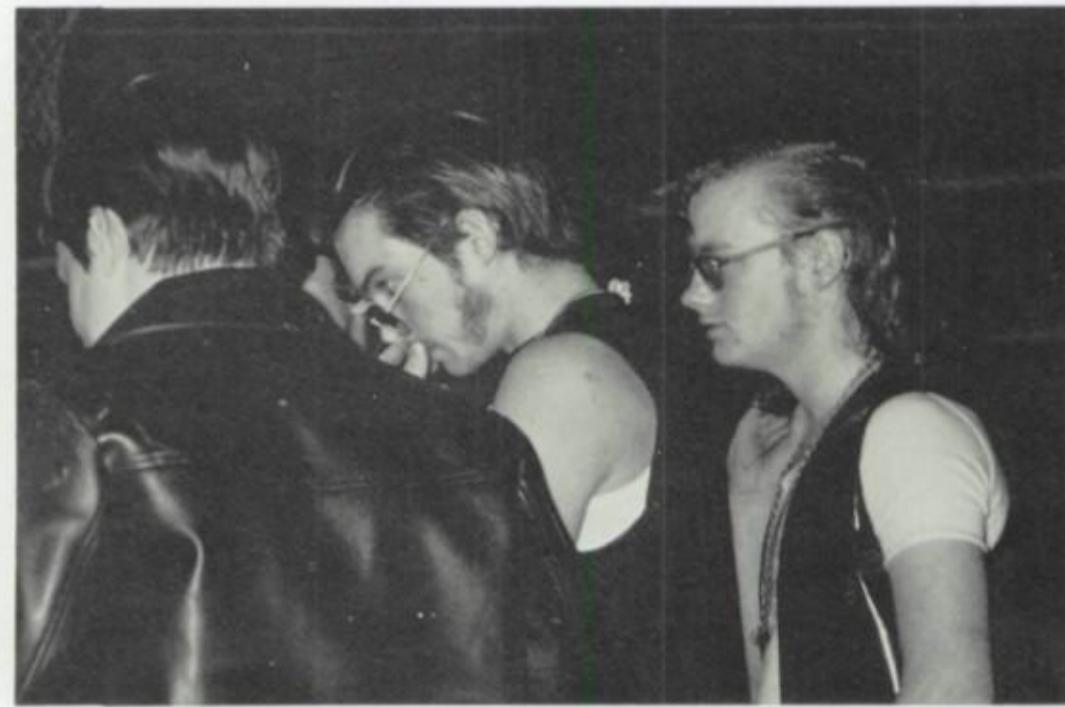

"You concentrate on the steps and the music. It takes determination. I was pretty shaky. After it is over you just kind of feel relieved, and you breathe a lot easier." "Waiting behind stage for 8:08 was exciting. Somehow you feel that it's really going to turn out great." "It was a historical event. Whenever anyone can get Mr. Liccoci to truck off stage, they deserve to be put in a history book." "For once the whole band worked on something and it turned out fantastic."

"It's a tradition that the kids in band enjoy." "When you're on stage your face freezes into a smile. It looks so phony but you can't help it because you're scared stiff." "I love to watch Stage Band play. They all get serious. It's almost like a trance. I guess that music can get to you that way if you concentrate on it. It could put you in a different world." "All year long I look forward to the band show. It's the only time you can screw around in band without getting yelled at."

The Wacky Revival of the Fifties

"It was really great because everyone had fun and you didn't have to worry about the way you were dressed or who was dressed better than you." "I had the strangest feeling all through the dance that I was back at one of the dances my mom would have gone to. It was really strange!" "I don't understand how you can hoola-hoop when your body goes straight up and down." "The wethead isn't dead!" "Everybody laughed at the way they dressed and looked, but someday when our kids have short hair, long skirts, are against drugs and smoking, and really care about things, they will be making fun of us." "I wonder if Mrs. Tierman was having fond memories." "It was like going to a masquerade party on Halloween. It's as much fun dressing up as it is seeing how everyone else turns out." "To think, they lived through the 50's without 7-Up." "Steve Bonadore really looked spooky. He made a good Teen Angel." "Nobody really cared about making an impression. Everyone just went to have a good time."

Marching Band

"Marching? It's hard to explain. You really hate it when you're out at 8 o'clock each morning and 7 o'clock every night in that wet grass. But I guess no matter how much you hate it, when you start to perform during half time you're proud — you really care."

"I guess everyone always gets down on band because they think that it's the only thing the school is here for. I think it's a lot of hard work." "Right now my horn looks like a crumpled fender. I guess I really don't remember what happened. I think that it's from when I was goofing around and I walked right into the wall with it." "Band has made my dentist a very rich man. When we're practicing out on the field, I can't see the big holes and bumps in the field. Everytime I hit one, my instrument goes down my throat and chips a tooth. Everytime!" "This year we wanted a new look for our band. So we switched to a drum and bugle sound. The first time we tried the new drills, I remember how much I hated them. It still seems so different. I guess people don't like to change." "Neither rain, nor sleet, nor hail, nor dark of night will stop Licocci's marching band."

Cheerleading

"When things go wrong I hate cheerleading, but then there are times when everything is all right and I'm glad I'm a cheerleader." "I think we have the best cheerleaders around. They even smile. A little more pep wouldn't hurt though." "I don't know why girls want to be cheerleaders unless it's because of vanity. But they sure have a lot of guts to be able to get out there time after time with all the cuts and comments people make." "I think cheerleading is just a big status symbol!" Jr. — Sr. Option

"Option is a big farce. It's supposed to be for studying, but there are too many immature kids down there." "It's a place where you can relax between classes and talk to your friends instead of being forced to study." "The seniors got gypped having all the juniors down there this year. The seniors never get any special privileges just for themselves." "The new administration was pretty fair in giving us option. We deserved it. It's just a few kids that take advantage of it by skipping classes, leaving the building, and leaving their garbage all over the cafeteria." "One thing about option is you learn how to play a lot of new card games. Everybody down there plays cards." "Even option gets boring after a while. Some kids don't even go down there anymore." "Option is the time in the school day I treasure the most. It's a time to take a deep breath and do what I want." "It's always the same thing. We get something good and a minority ruins it for the rest of us. Why doesn't the majority speak out?" "It was nice at first. But after the newness wears off, it's almost like study hall." "Our option is the only place you can find a policeman who looks like one of the senior defensive ends on the football team."

Pam darling,

I could say "I've Known you three big

Referendum

"I've waited four years for the people in this area to get up enough steam to do something about this school, and now, when they finally decide to do something, I'll be graduated and won't get to use it." "I didn't want the referendum to pass. I didn't and still don't believe our administrators will use the money for the betterment of education. I would like to know how they used the money they have already." "I think the school is broke because of poor management. If a large corporation was managed like the schools in Illinois, they would go bankrupt." "This school couldn't afford to get any worse." "I hope they put the money from the referendum to good use so Warren won't be called a 'farmer school' any more." "Maybe now we can have our own books in Biology II instead of sharing them with the other classes." "I really didn't know too much about it, but I'm glad it passed." "At least with the referendum passed the girls will get a place to have their gym class instead of getting stuck in that rotten old gym or up on the stage." "I know one good thing about the referendum. Now they can afford to put stalls in the boy's bathroom." "You've just got to face the facts. Warren is getting too small for the number of students it holds, and parts of the school are over fifty years old." "They didn't need a referendum. All they had to do was take the money out of the pop machines downstairs in option."

Vandalism

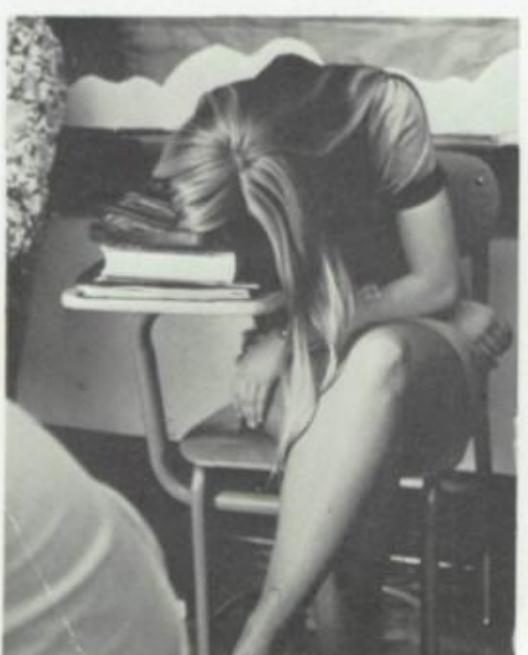

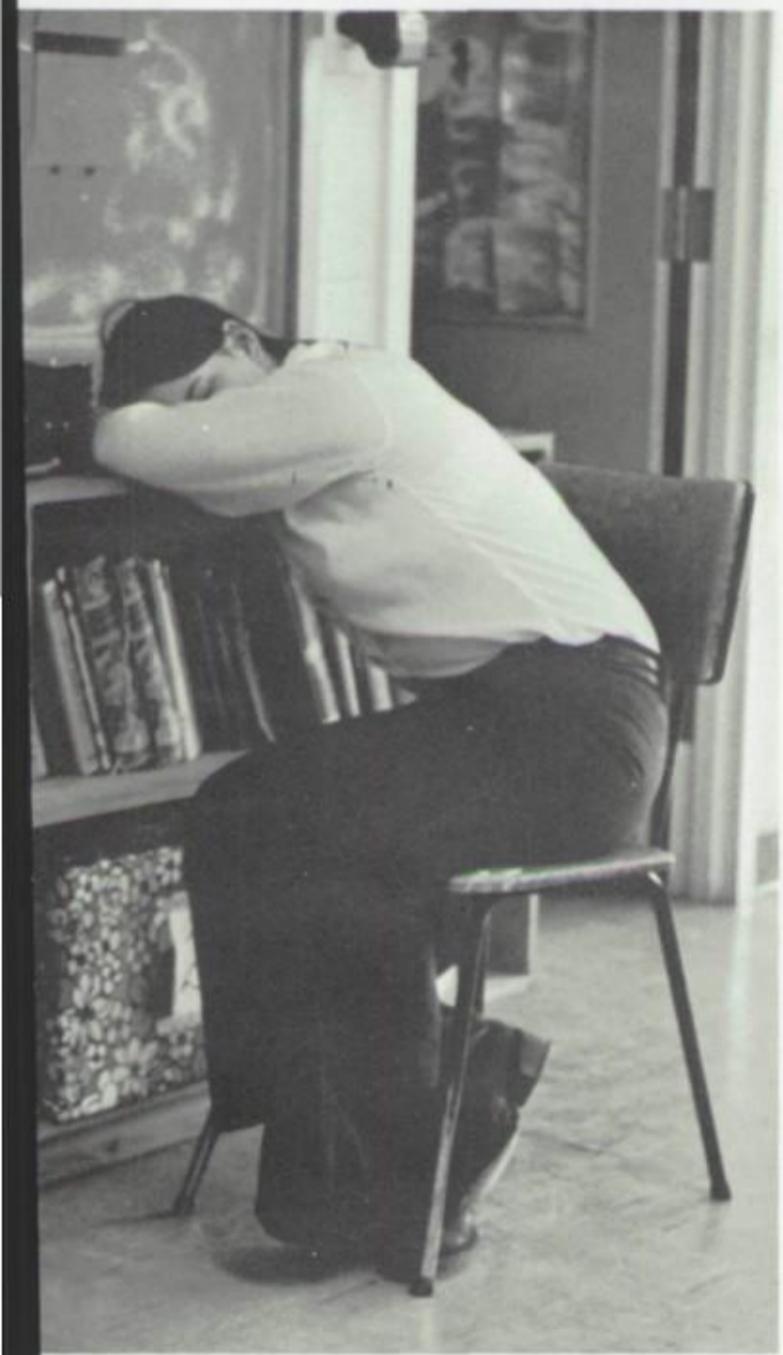

"If kids really hated this school as much as they say they do, they wouldn't even bother to wreck things." "There are always those who will destroy. I don't know what could be done. It's between the administration and the kids. The kids are mad because they don't get anything. Why should the administration give them anything if they destroy it? Some of the kids better wake up." "Stupid! It only hurts yourself, if you stop and think. But then, I guess if you go around being a vandal, you're not in the habit of doing much thinking." "What else is there to do when you only have four classes?" "Vandalism? Well, it's hard to try to understand why people do it. Sure, you're frustrated with how things are, but it takes a lot more guts to keep it inside of you than go and scribble on the bathroom walls." "All I know is that somebody ripped off my hub-caps in the parking lot, and I think they're the lowest thing on earth." "Vandalism is stupid. Every time a person breaks something that has to be replaced, it comes out of our taxes. The people that vandalize are only hurting themselves, not the administration."

Apathy? Boredom?

"When you're bored you feel so terrible. It's really odd — the feeling you get. You walk, but you always drag your feet; you laugh, but it's in-between your yawns." "The best thing to do when you're bored is to close your eyes and bury your head in the nearest desk. If you sleep, the time goes a lot faster." "I think that the worst time of day is 8th period in option. You're so tired that you get spacy. You start trumping your partner's aces, the pop machine is out of your favorite kind, there are no more Snickers candy bars, and you have a whole hour until 3:18." "Everyone uses apathy as an excuse. People use it for everything. When something goes wrong in the school, they just say, 'There's too much apathy in this school.' And shrug it off." "A lot of people are apathetic because they're tired of caring when nobody else does." "If you think school is boring think how boring your job would be." "Yawn. When you only have two exams for semesters, and they're not worth studying for, you can become rather fed up with sleeping in the hall, playing old maid, running down the hall with Travis behind you (even if you have a pass), going to Physics two times in one day and not taking the exam until the next day, and sitting in option wishing there was another option." "If you really don't give a darn, can you honestly expect anyone else to?"

School?

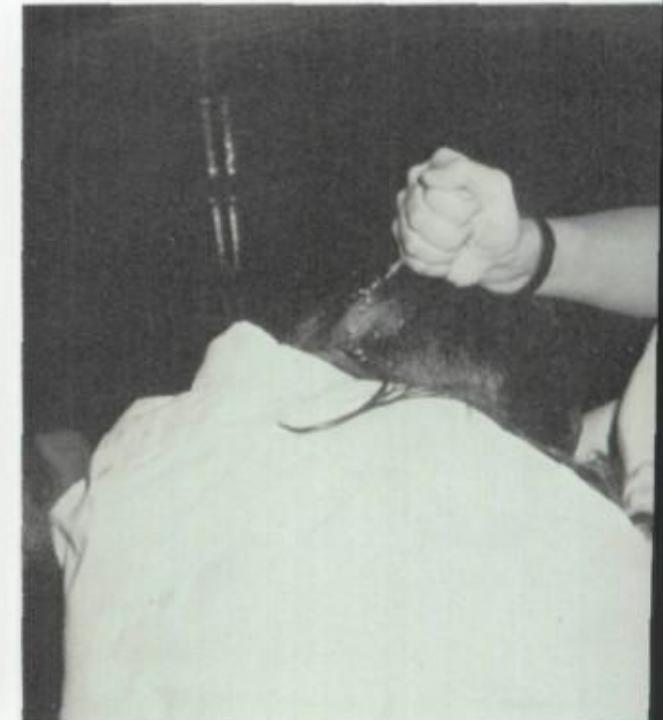

"School can be all right as long as you can still laugh when everything goes wrong and you can't go home yet." "It's nice to finally be a senior. Warren is all right, but after four years of the same old thing, it gets a little boring. But you can still take it by looking forward to the future." "It's nice to be the only person in the hall. You don't feel so grouped or hassled. For once, you're an individual." "The halls in this school are really raunchy. It's so depressing to walk down them. All you see is crowds, and nobody even smiles anymore." "School isn't really that bad. Sure, going to classes gets pretty boring, but think of all the good times you've had going out to lunch, laughing with your friends, serving detentions for some of the goofy things you've pulled, and really having a good time in spite of all the work." "A lot of kids hate school because they don't get involved. How can you really enjoy something if you're just an outsider?" "It's not that Warren is that boring. It's just that everyone's been doing the same thing — going to school — for almost twelve years." "If you really get too bored with school there's always one thing you can do — study."

Physical Education

"Those push-ups kill me on Sunday, even if I did 'em on Monday." "I like seeing the teachers chicken out of demonstrating tumbling stunts." "Gym is the best class of the day; you can shout and let out your anxieties." "I hate non-physical things like gymnastics and tumbling." "I think that option program they're talking about doing next year is great. It's too bad I'm a senior." "I think P.E. is a time to get rid of excess pounds." "Everyone can learn to do something for fun and exercise." "The worst thing about P.E. is the smell of the locker room when you first walk in." "What's most rewarding is when a girl who isn't good at anything discovers there's one thing she can do well." "Gym is a blast; I really love it. It's the only class where I can just let myself go."

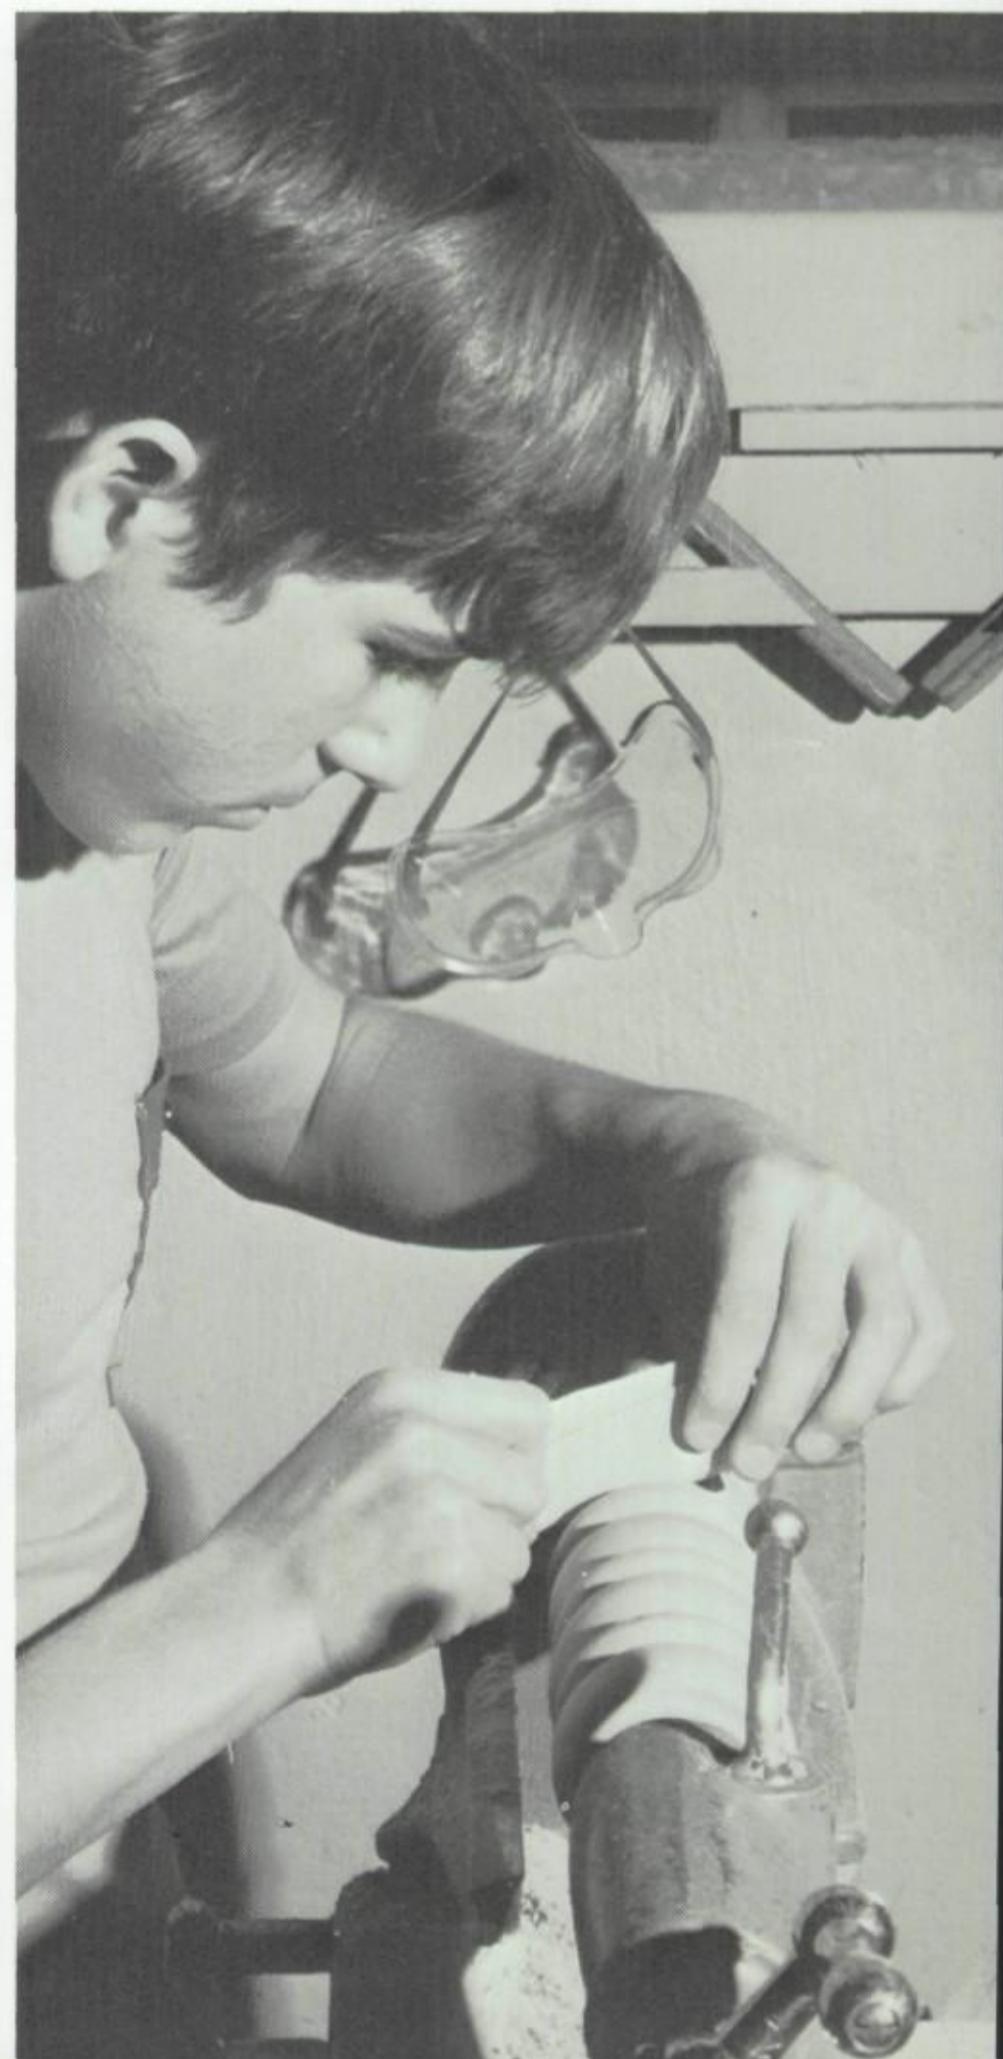

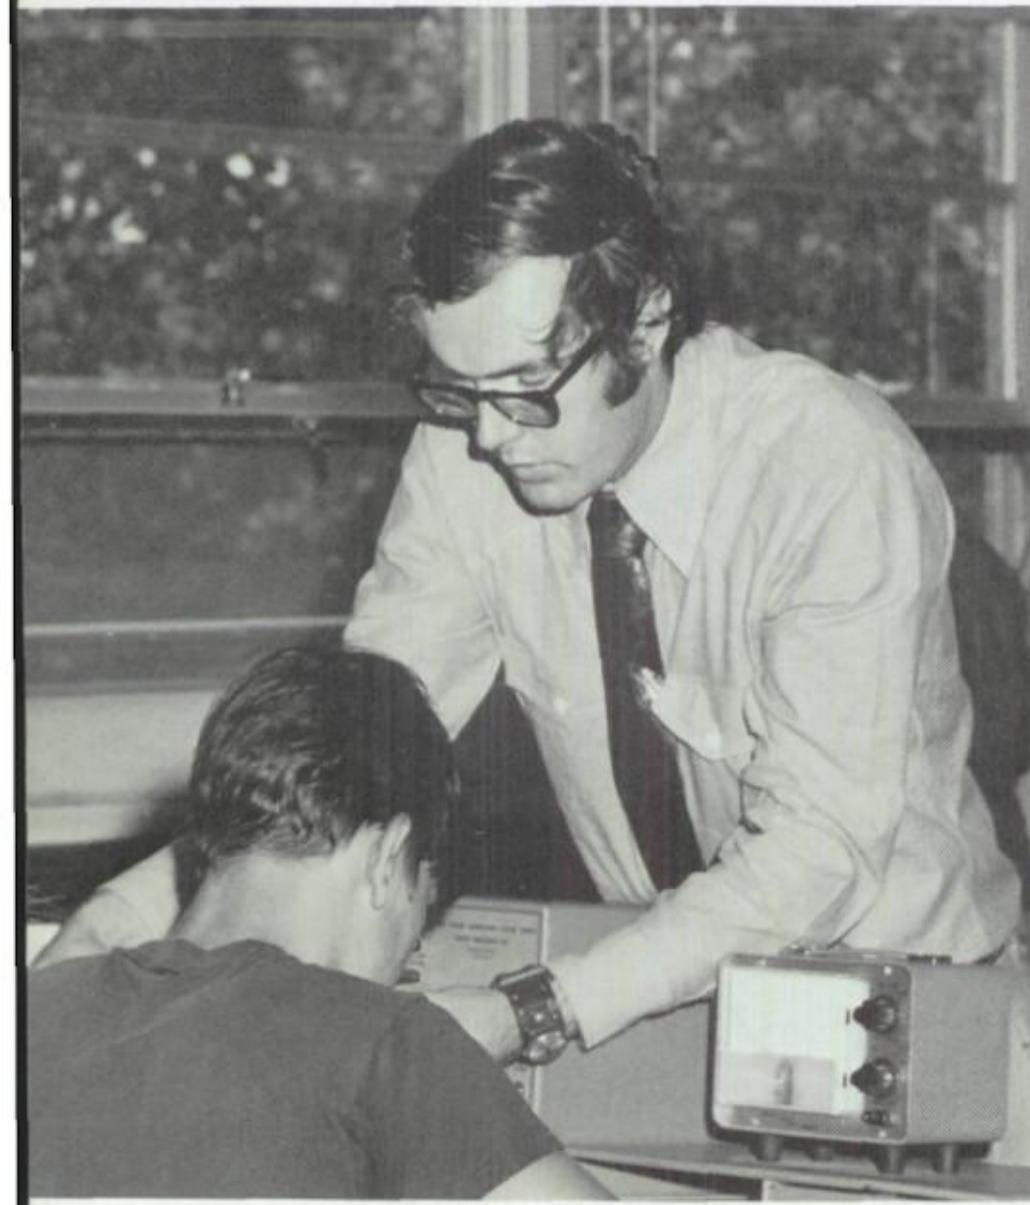

"P.E. is really more valuable than people give it credit for. Anything from being a housewife to a career girl requires fitness and energy." "Some of the things are good — the social things like bowling, ping pong, badminton, and tennis." "According to a recent survey, volleyball and gymnastics are still tops." "The seniors are always getting cheated out of everything new. Next year the kids get to go bowling!" "I like the way the seniors get to go swimming in the spring now. It makes it easier to sit through your next class — especially if it's a hot day." "P.E. turns boys into men." "The worst thing about gym is having it first hour. You feel like coming to school in your pajamas because you just have to get dressed again anyway."

Physical Education

Industrial Arts

"They sure are industrious enough!" "Shop prepares us well for the bread-winning years to come." "The teachers are nice, and I really like the classes a lot but the kids goof around too much." "I wish we had an auto shop." "It's all right if you don't mind a few slivers." "I wish I could have taken all the shop courses because I've learned so much." "It's hard trying to make do with half as much equipment as is needed, and what we do have is ten years too old." "Mr. Mieure is really a lot easier on the girls than he is on the boys. I guess it's because the boys are expected to know so much already." "In woods you learn about ten different ways to cut your fingers off. Two kids in our class already cut their fingers on the circular saw."

"Industrial Arts — the best thing that ever happened to me. I'm finally learning something useful." "They expect the same from the girls as they do from the boys. We don't have it as easy as they think. We have to earn our grades too." "You have to do your work; you can't just mess around for an hour. The work you do is the grade you deserve." "Having girls in my class is restricting; I can't speak as professionally as I did before." "The Electronics I class really enjoys the house wiring unit; it's probably the most practical unit taught." "The guys in wood shop think the girls are weaklings, but we show 'em up." "I like shop because I meet a lot of guys." "Don't get the idea that shop is an easy-credit course; it isn't all fun and games. We have books and we have tests."

Industrial Arts

Band

"The new look the band has this year is really nice, but I liked the old style of marching better. I miss all the formations they used to do like the peace sign, but this style will be better for them in contests." "Band is great! You can get out of all your study halls, go on trips, and be called a 'meatball' just for taking one course." "The school makes a lot of money from having the band play at basketball and football games. Think of all the parents that come just to watch their kids play. Besides it gives the kids in band experience." "Whenever I want to hit my bass drum really hard, I just think of it as one of my teachers." "I know a lot of kids in band that really cut it down. But if you watch their faces when they play, you can see that they put a lot into it, and they're really enjoying themselves."

"The most rewarding moment, when all your practices are worth it, is when you're up there in the state finals." "The hardest thing in band is to keep practicing and keep your ambitions high because in the end, it's all worth it." "Band is something you can't lose interest in and be good in at the same time. It takes a lot of discipline and practice to be any good at all." "Listening to the band play at concerts and games really makes me feel good. It's at times like that I wish I could play an instrument." "No matter how much anybody hates band, there's always one good thing about it — you can get into basketball and football games for nothing." "In band you learn more than music and notes; you learn how to discipline yourself to get something you want."

Band

"What most kids don't realize is that if it wasn't for the Slave Driver Licocci, our band wouldn't be as good as it is." "We may be meatballs, but we're the best meatballs I've ever seen." "A lot of people knock the band, but they really look good during half-time. That circus music really changes the atmosphere of a football or basketball game." "Band is playing your guts out, but it beats studying your brains out over a class. It's something to break up the day." "It's the night of a big concert and I can't play my horn because my boyfriend bit my lip and my lips are all swollen." "Band is a lot of hard work, but it's worth it when you get to go to places like Disneyland."

"Chorus relieves a lot of tension. It's really the only class I look forward to. Everyone seems to get along great together. You don't have to worry about tests and studying, and I like that!" "Chorus is fantastic! You get 400 people together and all of a sudden you hear this song and everybody is singing the same thing. The feeling is in the air. It's fantastic! Instead of your knees shaking, your whole body is shaking." "Maybe I could like it if they sang songs I already knew." "Mr. Myren cares so much about everyone and their problems. He's a songleader, guidance counselor, father and a big brother. You really like him, and it's great to have him for a teacher."

* — Denotes Seniors

"Chorus is okay now. It was hard as a freshman guy in Junior Mixed. I felt like a real outcast. But I quit at the end of that year." "It's a riot accompanying the groups. If you make a mistake everyone is too busy to notice. I bang on the notes and act like I never do anything less than perfect." "The first concert I was in I was petrified. I had to walk across the gym floor to get to the piano. On the way over, I tripped on a cord lying on the floor for the microphone. The whole crowd thought it was hilarious. Real funny!" "It's really cool when you finally get a song perfected. You make the final cut-off; Mr. Myren stands there with a funny expression on his face. Then he smiles and says, 'Right!'" "I'm surprised at how good Concert Choir sounds this year. All the guys graduated except Charlie and Jeff. I don't know how all those guys got conned into singing. It sure wasn't for pure enjoyment."

Chorus

Darn, we may not be best friends, but I still think you're one of the nicest people I know. Stay that way!! Page Holmes

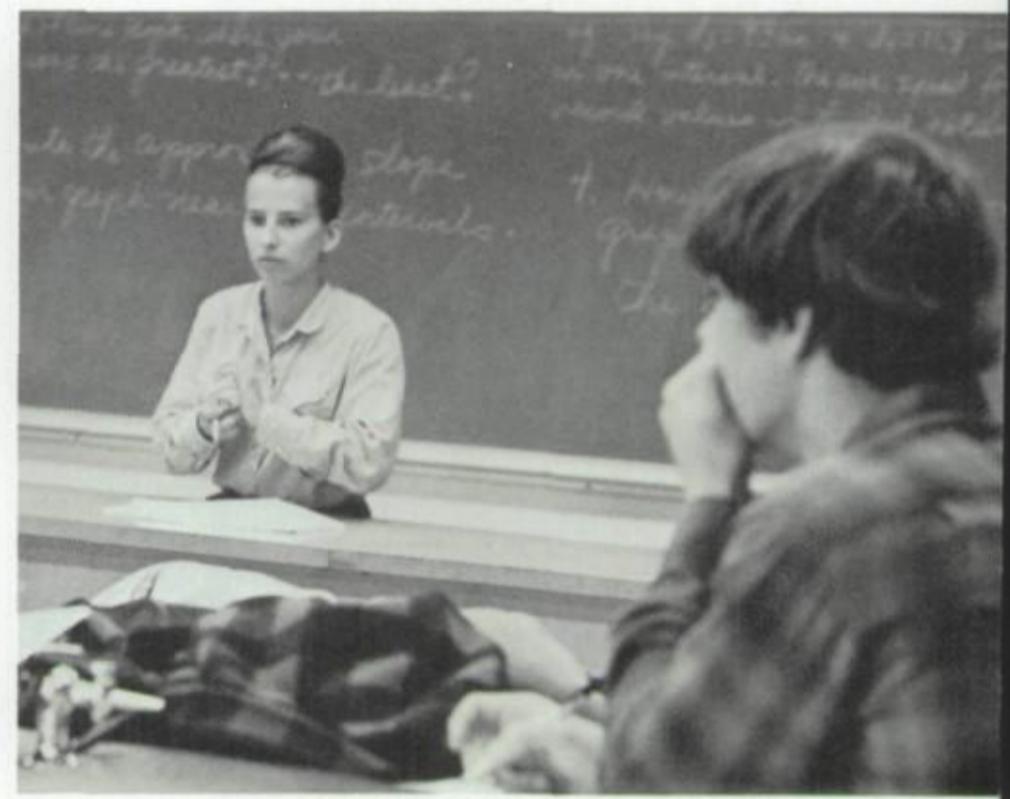

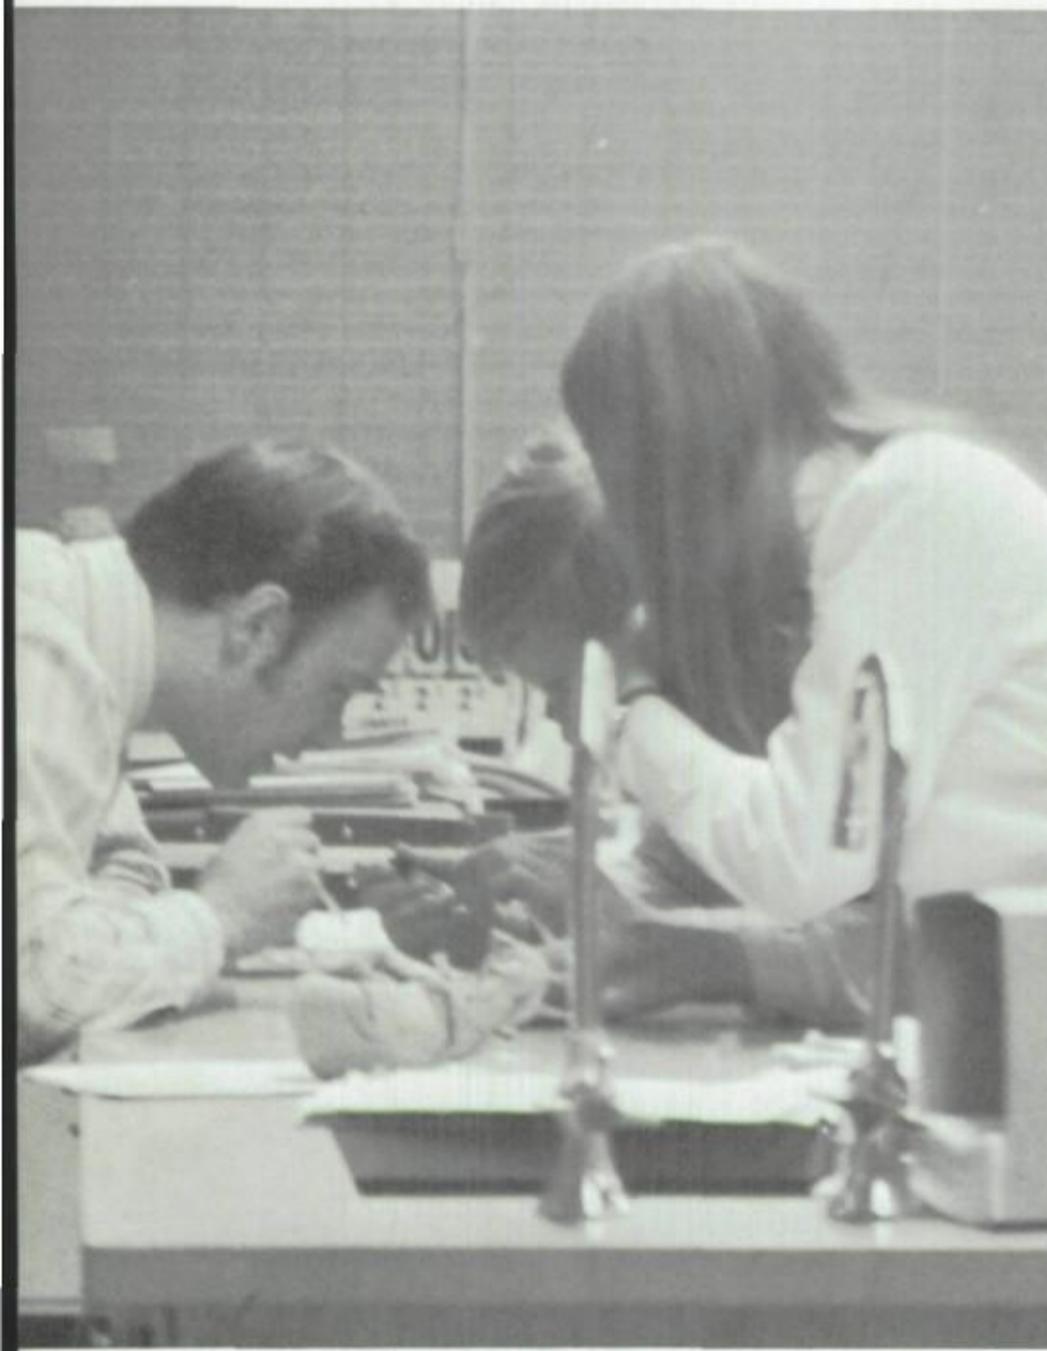

"I really am proud of those girls who have hung in there despite not making Concert Choir year after year. They are the ones that make the chorus concerts." "The major reason that I didn't graduate in January was because of chorus and all its activities. It's something to work for that's fun. It gives you a good feeling when you finish a concert or take an award in a contest. It's really something else." "It's a fantastic feeling when Mr. Myren says good work. I enjoy singing because it makes me feel I can do something — not very well, but something. You have fun while you learn." "I take out all my frustrations with singing, and when we sing a really great song in a concert, it gives me goose bumps. It's such a neat feeling."

Chorus

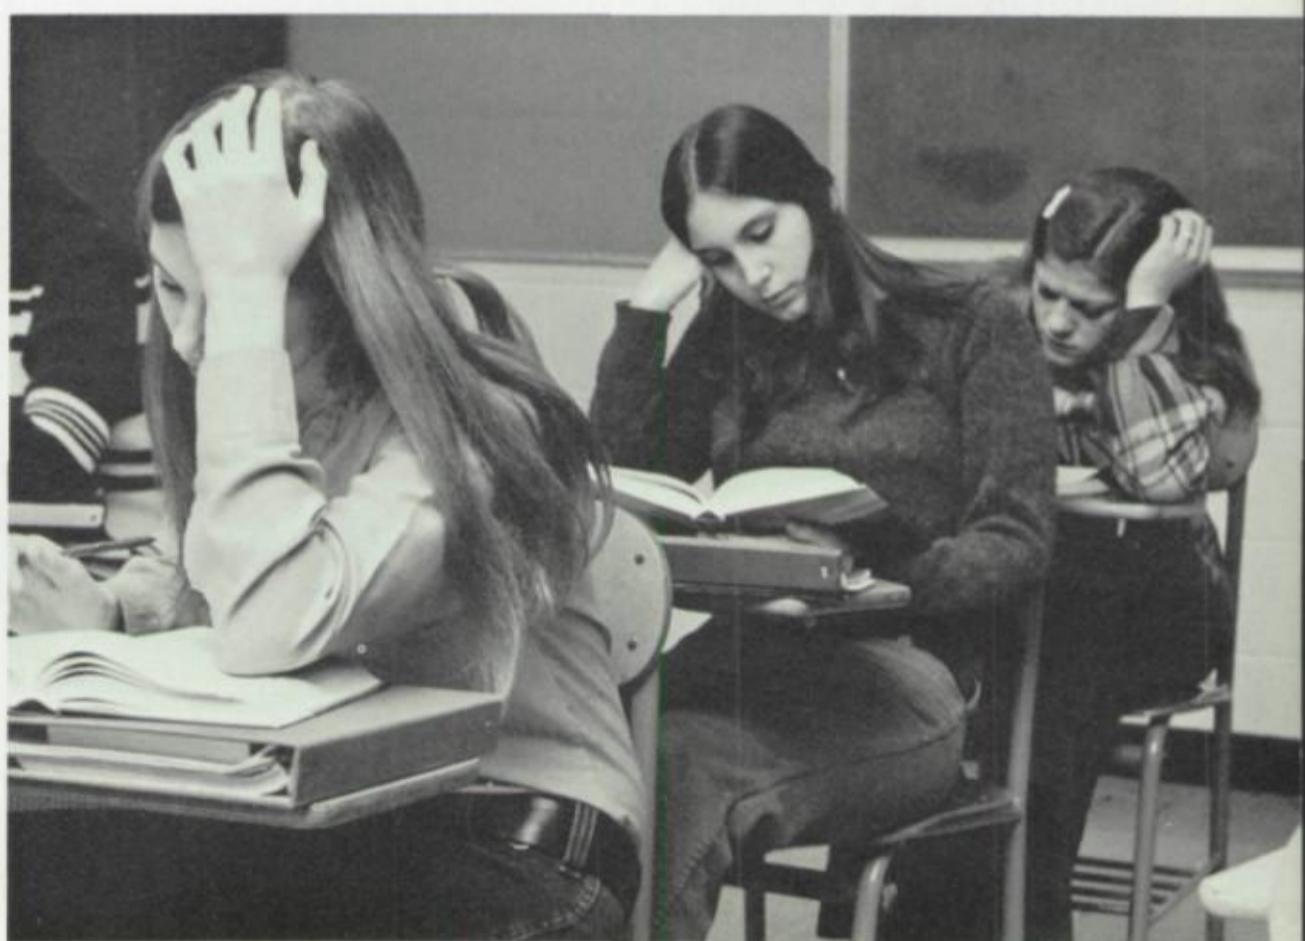

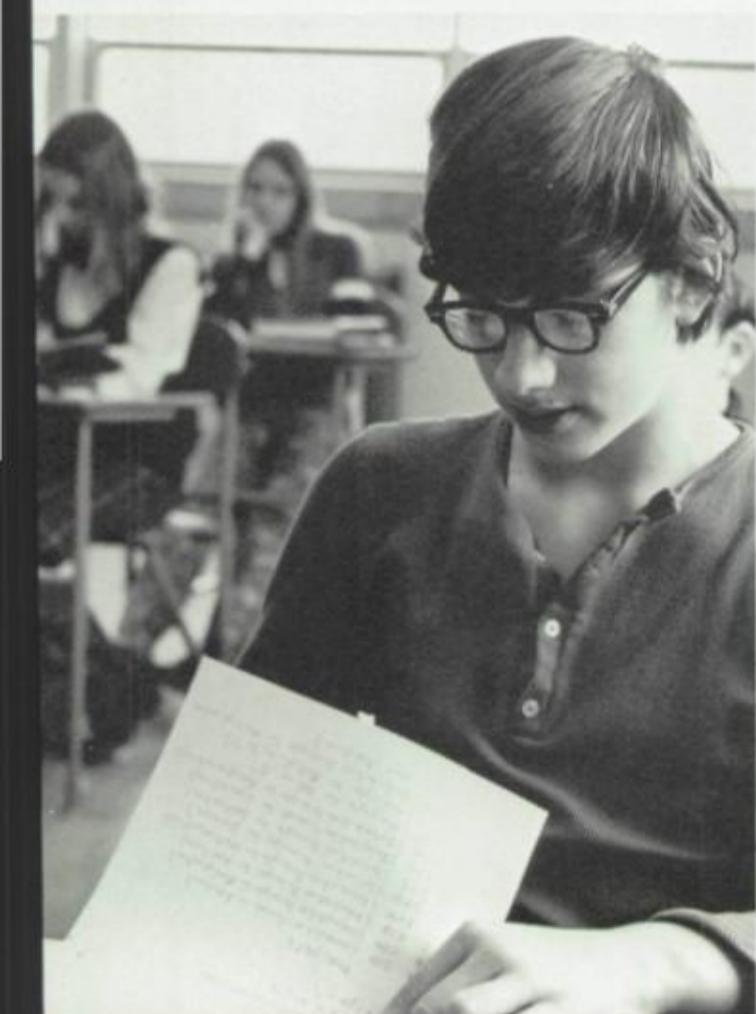

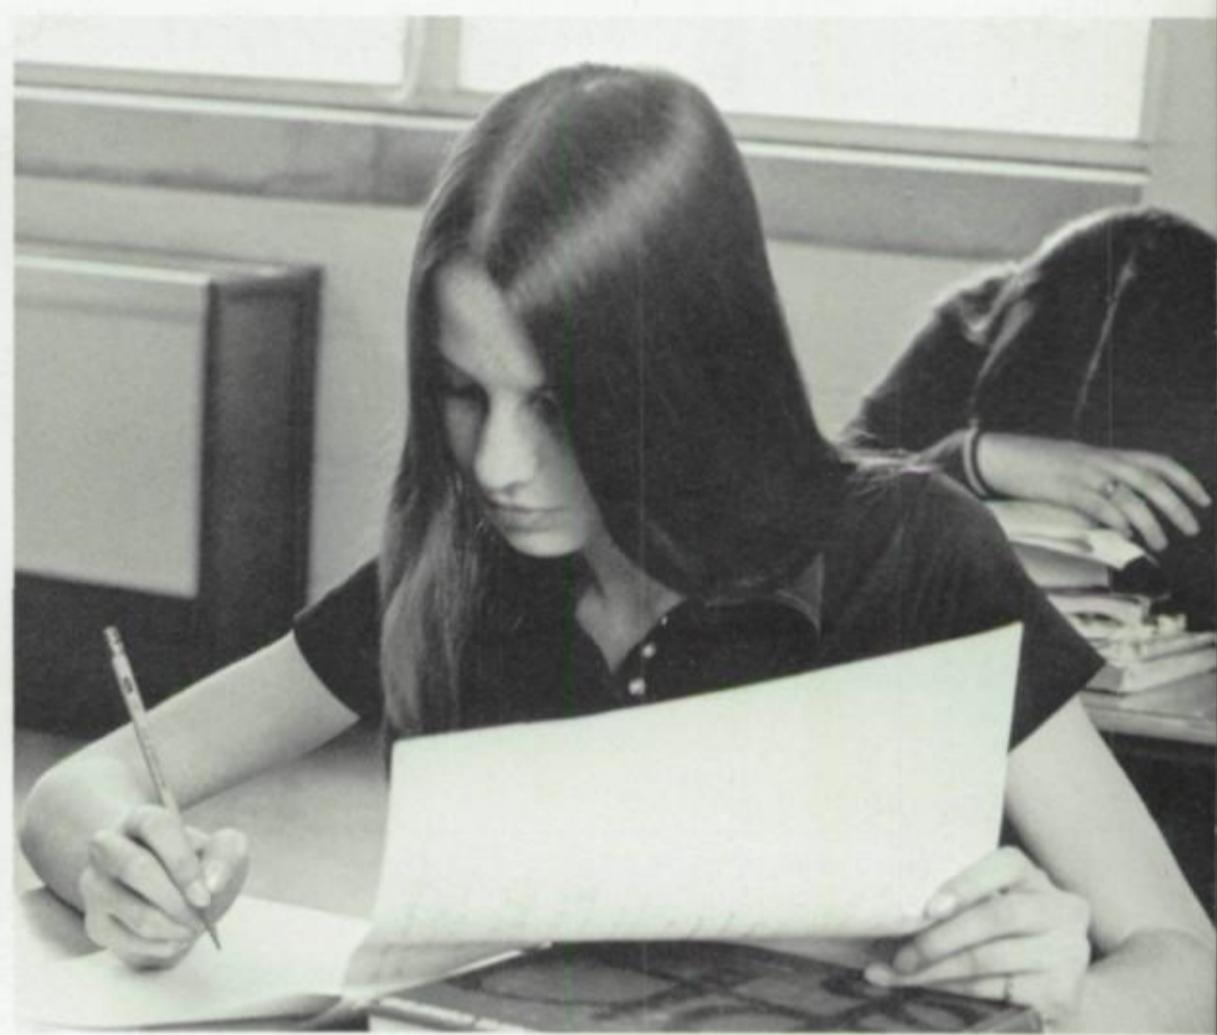

Math and Science

"We should be taught how to use slide rules; it's easier." "Try to figure out why you ate worms when you were little after you dissect one." "I'm taking biology in an earth science room. There are no electrical outlets, no sinks, rotten equipment, and you want to know what I think about science." "The funniest thing in math class is listening to Mr. Stone's puns and watching him look foolish." "I had to hire a neighbor boy to finish my bug collection in time." "I was really happy to see the unit on molds and fungi come along because I could clean out my refrigerator." "The bad thing about biology is that after a unit on the reproduction of the moss, you still don't understand the jokes — but you laugh harder."

"Math is spending half your time getting interested in the problems and the other half getting normal again." "By the time most people get to their third year of math, they don't feel like another year of quadratic and linear equations. They just don't realize how much math is going to be involved in their future lives." "Science is like math. It is enjoyable if you have a teacher that really enjoys it. If a teacher doesn't like to teach, it can really make the subject boring." "There really isn't very much to say about math and science. They are boring subjects that have to be learned. I'm not saying you should study your brains out, but just get the basics." "I hated math so much I couldn't take geometry after I finished algebra. Now I found out two years later that I have to take it, and I'm the only senior in my class."

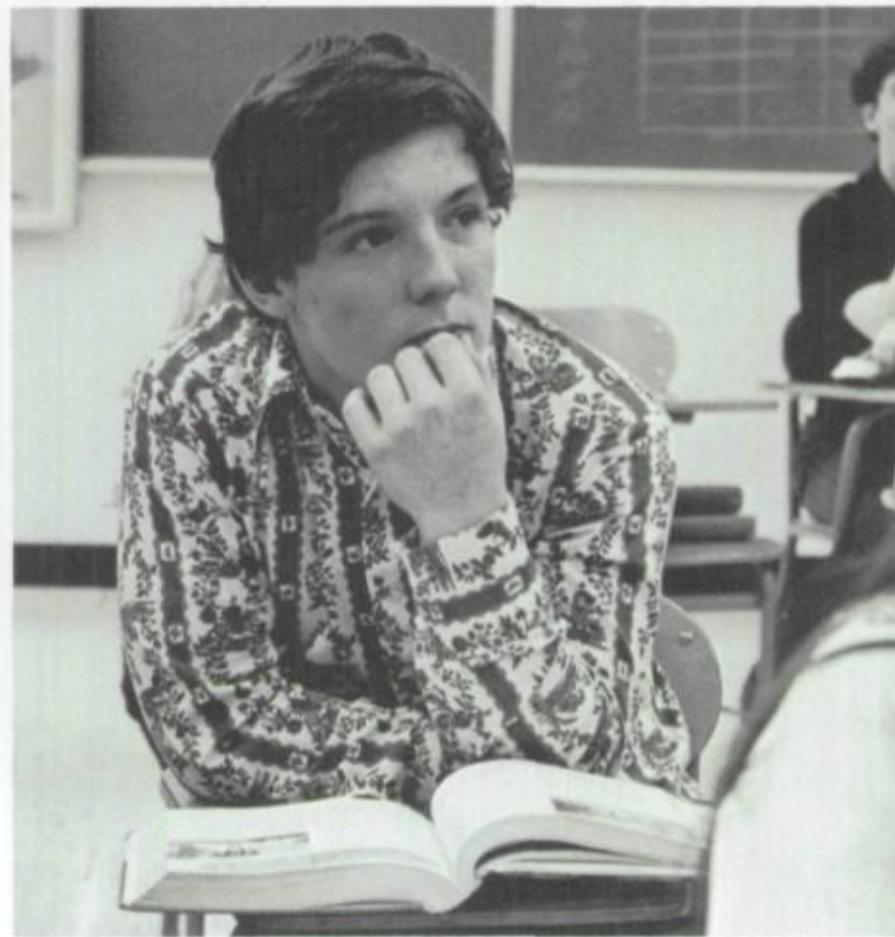

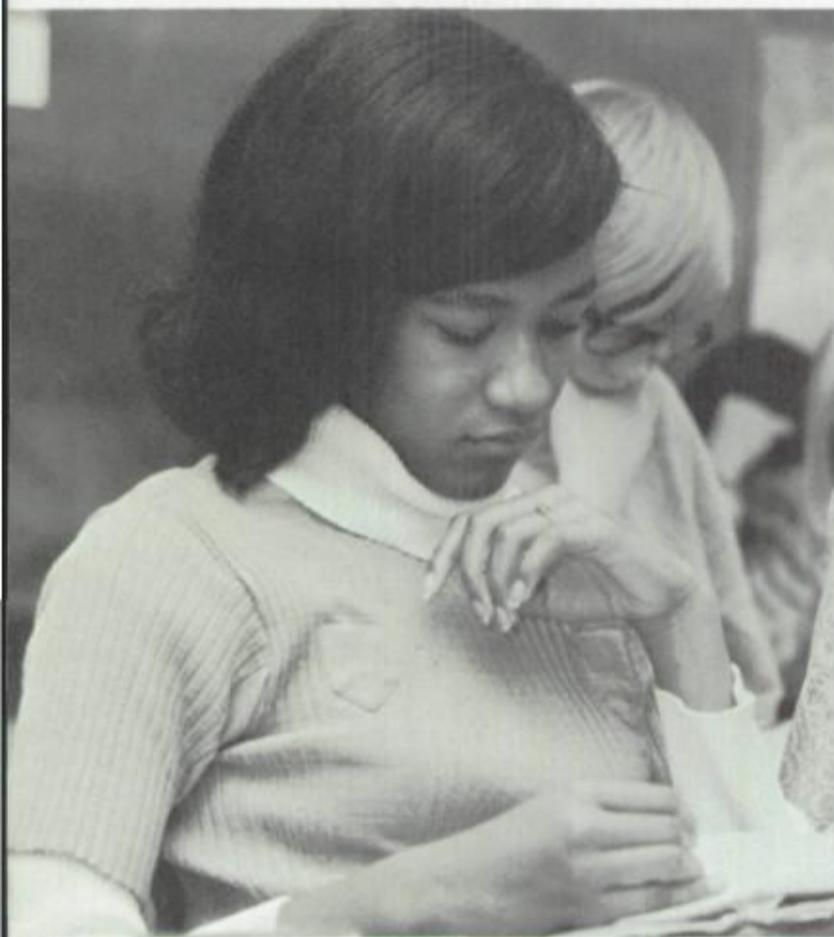

Math And Science

Pam,
ever though we don't speak to each other that much I hope we can become very good friends

Social Studies

"Do we have to take so much history?" "I'm still waiting for Mr. Strahan to tell his famous frog joke." "History is really strange; some people really enjoy it and others can't stand it." "History can be very interesting if you get a teacher who can tell you all the little things that make all those great men more individual." "Being required to take these classes can make a lot of kids hate it. But, if the teacher is interesting, it can be all right." "You've been taught all this stuff since the fourth grade. By the time you're a junior, you really don't know it, and you're too lazy to want to learn it all over again." "It's a different experience — boring!"

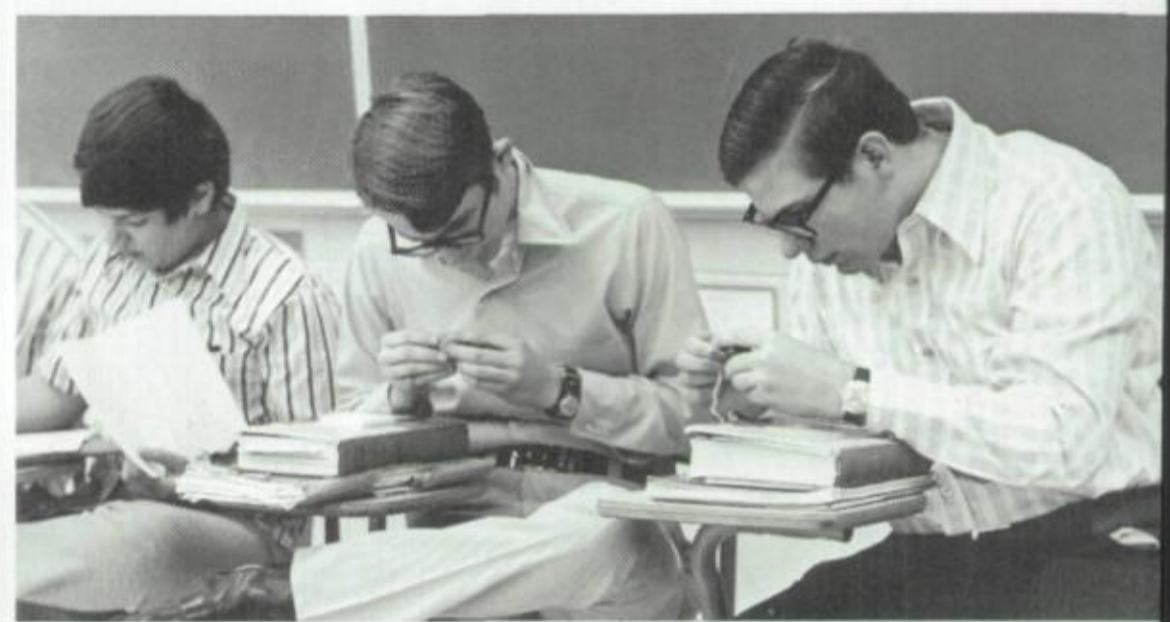

"History consists of names and dates, failing grades, and the makings of a big headache." "We should learn more about other countries; I was so surprised to find out how much other people know about the U.S.. It's almost shameful, because come to think of it, we really don't know all that much about our own country." "Seniors are required to take Senior Problems next year, as if all we need is another one." "Last year, if I got really tired of listening, I'd watch the ceiling drip and form a puddle on the floor. If it wasn't raining, I'd watch the plaster fall." "In social studies, when taking a test, keep in mind that if you want to get a good grade, put down the teacher's opinion."

Social Studies

English

"In Speech class, we all wait for Jeff to start his speech with his famous last word 'AH' " "I wonder, if Shakespeare was a peasant, would we still have to learn about him?" "I'm glad that all I can do in English is sleep, so I'm all refreshed for lunch." "It's about time that they have a more varied curriculum. For those who dislike the classics, it's a chance to get good credits and really enjoy the course. I only wish that they wouldn't have waited until I'm a senior to do it!" "I really believe that Chaucer was a dirty old man!" "Too bad the rebirth of culture ever came about. Maybe we would all be a little better off." "Miss Uttech made a good witch when we read Macbeth." "English is too much history and no fun." "Why is everyone always absent the day before term papers are due?"

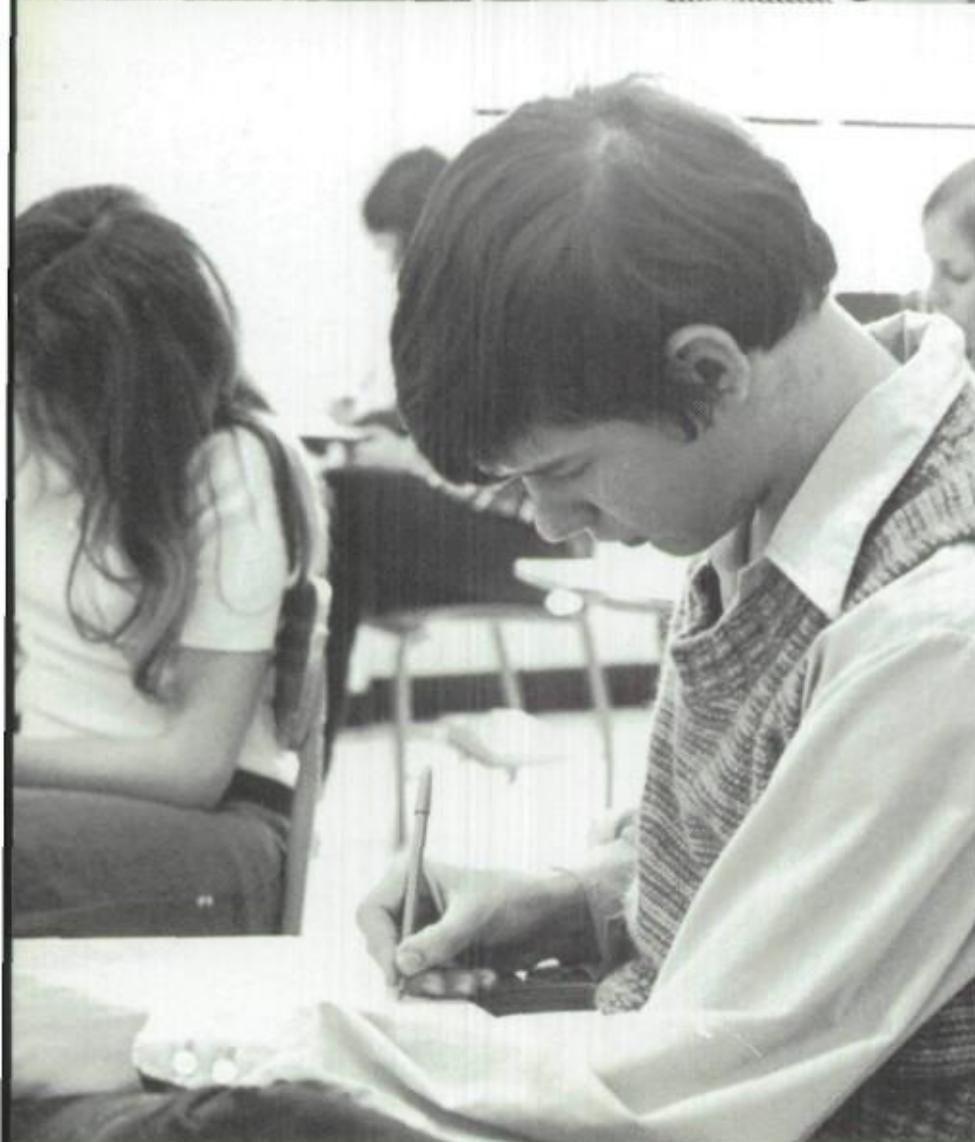

"I think that the year I'll remember the most is sophomore year in English class, Mrs. Dixon's class that is. John and Jerry kicked out everyday, Charlie giving Nancy mouth-to-mouth resuscitation for a speech, Robin dragging her oversized Newfoundland into class, slamming our books at 3:15 and sitting after class until 3:25, and having the whole front row all on crutches and leaving five minutes before class every day." "Isn't it strange that we have to keep reminding Mrs. Martin that she's here to teach." "English is when you read themes such as 'I, A Rat', a first person account of the Plague of 1665 seen through the eyes of a rat." "In the middle of Dante's Inferno, Kurt starts up with his animal sounds for effect." "I guess it's the famous Canterbury Pilgrimage that every junior must take to better gain a first hand knowledge of the times."

English

Foreign Language

"It's hard to learn a language when you have third and fourth year combined into one class. It's not only hard on the class but on the teacher also. I really wish that something could be done about it, but it takes a lot of money to do things right." "Playing games in a different language helps you to understand the usage of the language." "There has got to be a better way to learn a language than to sit in class everyday and listen to rules on grammar and dialect. I only wish that I knew how to find a way to learn faster than I do now." "To be able to talk fluently you have got to concentrate on everything you say. At times you get all frustrated and your tongue gets even more tangled than it normally is in class." "You do a lot and learn a lot but you really don't know when you'll use it."

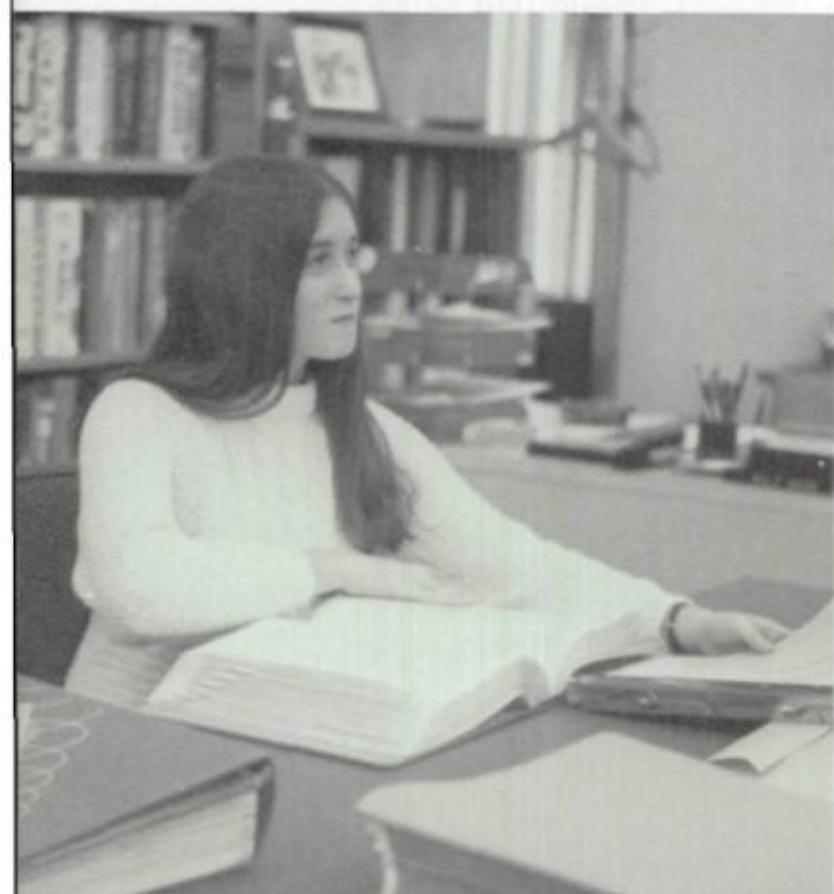

"I believe in the military. I like the discipline, proper recognition, and the power, but in my three years of ROTC I think they don't appreciate the hard work you put in. and you're penalized if you disagree with something." "I'm glad I got into Air Force ROTC because you learn a lot about airplanes and not just about rifles like the Army." "When Waukegan gets a bigger airport, we'll even be able to get a jet of our own." "Color Guard does a good job." "ROTC can be a good course; it can teach discipline and all that, but really, shouldn't that sort of thing be taught to you when you are a child?" "ROTC could be okay if I wasn't a girl, because all they seem to teach is a lot about engines and all about the anatomy of every airplane there ever was."

R.O.T.C.

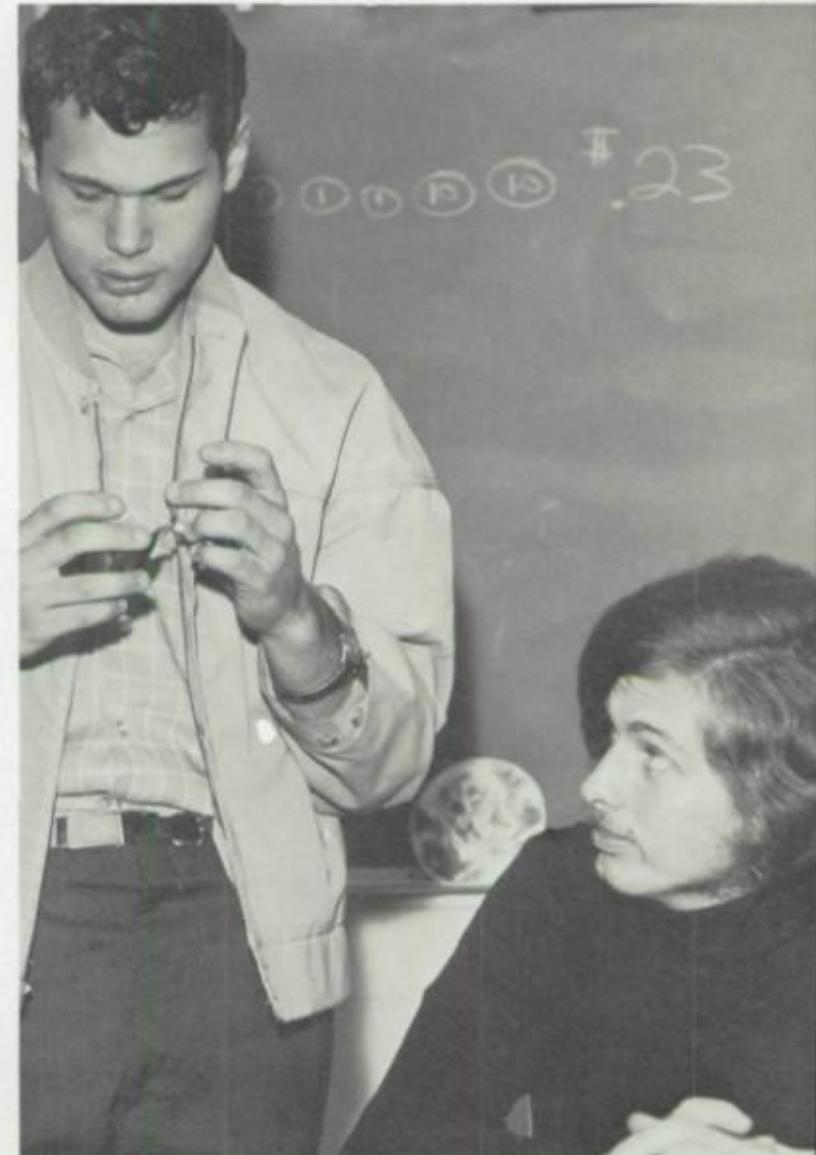

Work Cooperative

"The work coop class is broken up into two sections: the first is book; the second is related learning. The student starts a self study program right away." "Work Coop is, in my opinion, the most practical program in the school. It is one of the few courses that help prepare you for your life in the outside world." "Going to another school the last half of the day is really nice. I mean, where else can you get lost in a school and not worry about getting sent to Strang's office for skipping. (What would you expect from a Warren student)." "I really enjoy the working part, but the school part could stand a little improving! I mean I'm not the smartest thing on two legs. Working is really something. It's really a lot of fun. I get a lot more out of it than I do in the classroom. There would be a lot more students working harder if there were more students working."

"People should be more aware of these kids." "I know from personal experience that it takes a lot of hard work, determination, and personal dedication to do it. I think Mr. Darveaux is a pretty special individual." "God gives everybody a compensation for something that's wrong with them. People with crooked teeth have beautiful eyes or something like that. These Special Ed. kids have the best compensation of all; they will definitely go to heaven. They are so innocent there is no other place they can go." "I like this because it's something to help the educationally handicapped; every school should have it." "I don't know very much about Special Ed., about what happens inside I mean. I've met some of the people that are in it. They seem to be very happy but a little insecure. When I see their bright posters in the hall I just get the feeling they must be beautiful inside."

Special Education

Home Economics

"It's fun to cook, but I wish we didn't have to eat it afterwards." "It was my final moment to prove myself, and I ended up with an upside-down, over-cooked coffee cake and a big fat 'F'." "She asked for egg souffle and got scrambled eggs. I asked for an 'A', but chalk up another 'F'." "I started making a size seven dress. At the end of the quarter it was finished, but I was a size nine and couldn't wear it." "I hate the idea of being the perfect little housewife especially because I hope I'm never dumb enough to get married. I want to become a veterinarian, and I can't be fooling around with dusting and cooking for a hungry, slovenly male."

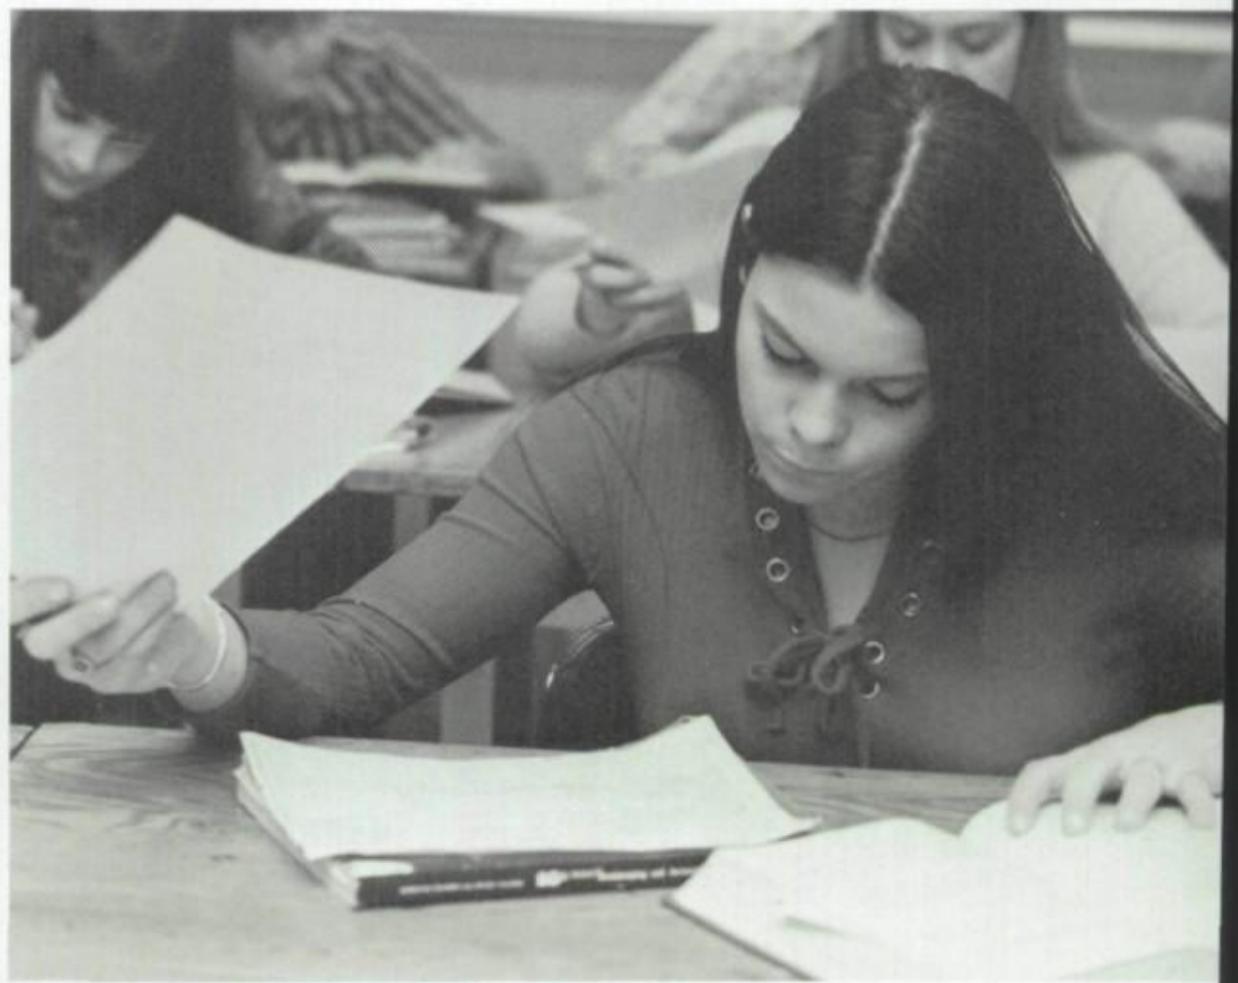

"Home Ec. is okay, except for the fact that everything we do counts so much. If we put a needle in a pattern the wrong way, it's a sin." "I love to cook, but it's better at home because we don't get graded, and my father eats anything." "In Family Living we try to discuss a lot of different things, but we always end up on the same old subject — sex." "Believe it or not, the guys' eyes are usually bigger than their stomachs." "Family Living really frustrates me. Everytime I want to give my opinion, I'm told to shut up by some know-it-all guy. The discussions can get pretty wild." "I think the funniest thing is seeing the guys learn to knit. You can watch their big muscley hands holding knitting needles — just like Grandma does."

Home Economics

Business

"We are told that secretaries never chew gum, but it sure takes a lot out of you if you have to take dictation for a whole period." "Shorthand doesn't allow for any elbow-leaning." "If we're supposed to be learning how to be good secretaries, shouldn't we start out by sitting on the teacher's lap?" "At least we learn how to balance a checkbook." "In office machines, I was tested on the stuff I spent a week on. But what about the stuff I slaved over for three weeks?" "Good educational value." "We learn something useful — something we can always fall back on if we have to." "They really get you ready for a business career." "I wish that I had had brains enough to take typing, because it is hard typing a term paper with two fingers."

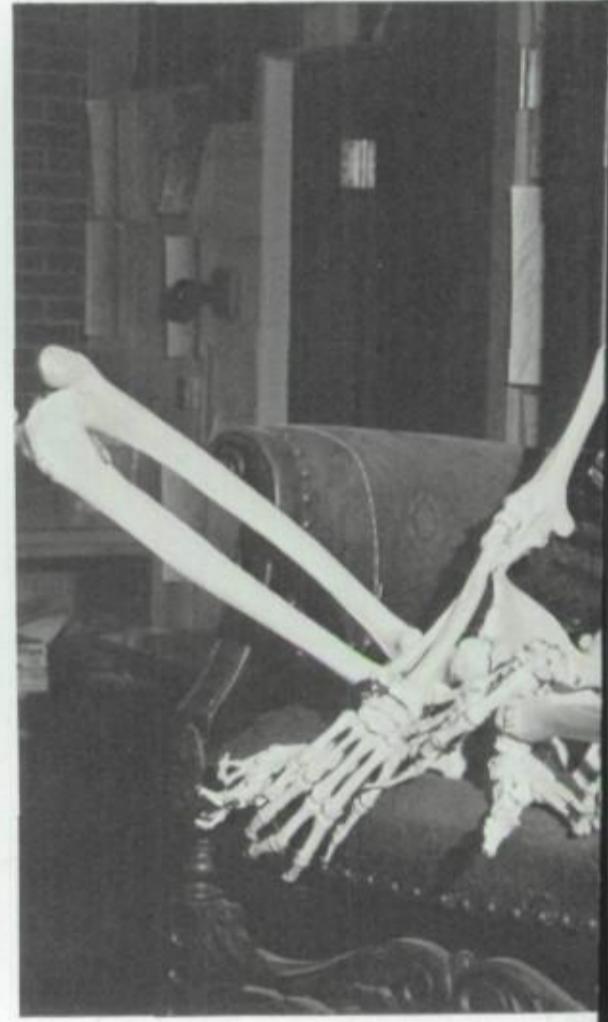

"I think it's nothing but an easy 'A', and it makes me mad when I take hard courses and get fair grades and someone else takes four business classes and ends up with a much better average." "People put down business by saying it's an easy-credit course. It really isn't. It takes a lot of work for the good grades and to get a lot out of it." "I don't like timed writings. I get too nervous and hit the wrong keys. Then I manage to hit two keys at once. That really blows the timing and I wish I could hide." "In business we learn the latest 'traveling salesman' jokes." "Business is really great because you can get a decent job after high school, and in college you can get papers done easily."

Business

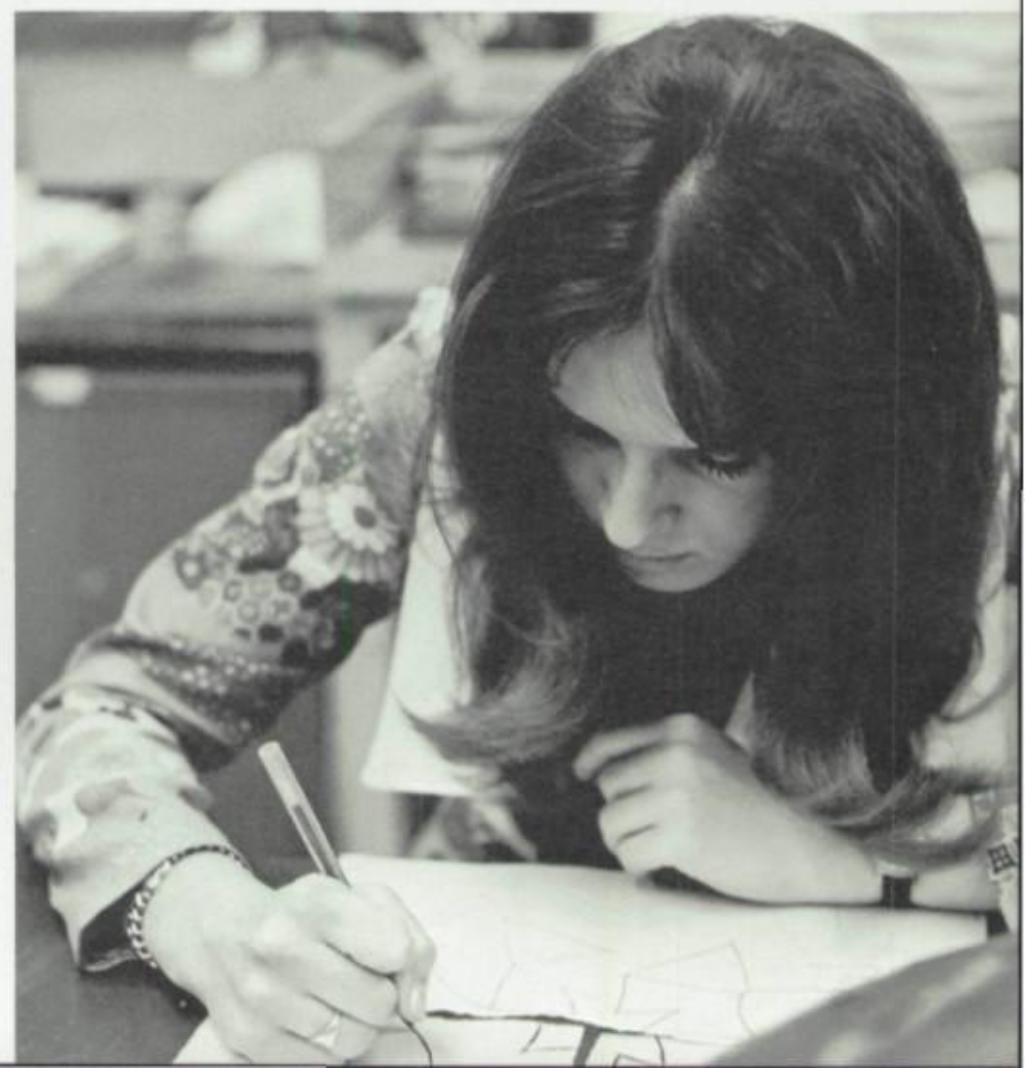

Art

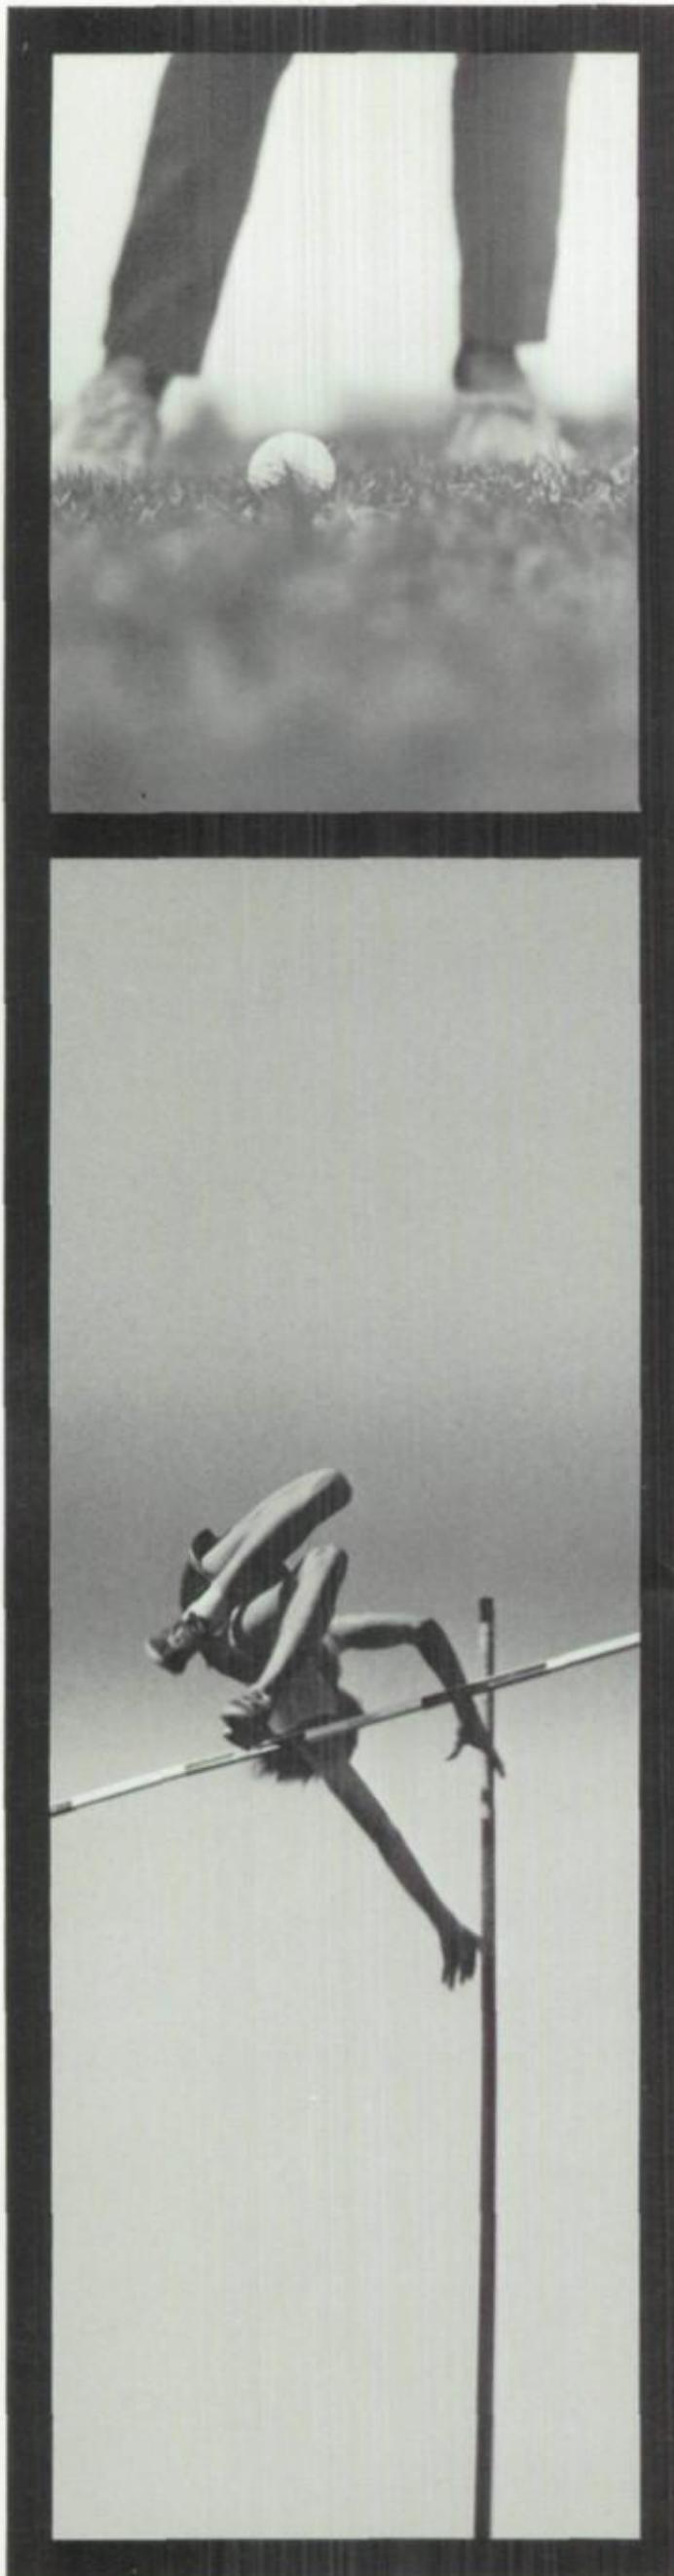

"I would have taken art because I like to work with my hands, but I was afraid it would turn against me." "Someone made an obscene pot without realizing it, and it took the teacher two weeks to realize what everyone was laughing at." "I like to draw. You can draw what you feel. You don't have to impress anyone, and you don't have to be perfect. You draw to please yourself." "It really gets you mad when you work hard on something that takes you a long time, and you get it back with a low grade and a note that says it looks like you worked on it for ten minutes." "It's a feeling of self-satisfaction. You know you've done the best you can. No one can take that feeling away from you."

"It's okay to be an artist, but it doesn't teach much." "It's something nice to do when you're not feeling very good. I don't see how anyone can knock it." "Art is a very colorful subject. It brings out any talent that you might have. If you don't have any talent, it is good for a few laughs." "Sometimes you get discouraged because your work doesn't turn out the way you want it to. But Mrs. Wheeler is always ready to help, and it never really is that bad." "You have to like art a lot to be able to do it. You can't just pick up a pencil and draw. It takes a lot of hard work to develop talent, but if you like it you can stick with it." "I think they should display more art work at school. If they built some showcases, it might give the school more class."

Art

"All you can do in any sport is go out and play the best you can. No matter how the score turns out if you know deep down that you did your best, no one can call you a failure." (73) "When you vault, just at one instant nothing seems to matter. You're suspended and no one can reach you. I think that is about the neatest feeling in the world." (74) "Winning really means a lot to me. At times I say I don't care but I know that's a lie. Like Mr. Bader says — 'If it doesn't matter who wins or loses, then why bother to keep score?'" (74) "I hate when the guy you are up against is bigger than you. It gives you a complex and gets you down."

SPRING

"At times I just get so scared that my stomach starts to hurt before a game. That's when I know that I have to concentrate; I know that it's all in my head and if I let it get to me I know that it could do something to the way I perform." "Athletes aren't expected to show any emotion; you're expected to be a jock and not to care. Don't people realize that we really do care?" "... Practice until you ache, but that ache is about the best feeling you've ever had. It feels like every muscle in your body has been pulled." "It is really frustrating to try so hard and get nowhere. This is when you really wonder — is it worth it?" "I'll never forget the first time I played baseball; I struck out and never wanted to play again. With my talent I probably should have taken up something else like horseshoes." "I don't understand why people put so much meaning into sports. They all act like if you can't play a decent game of baseball you might as well not live. Not everyone is good in sports so why make such a big deal over them?"

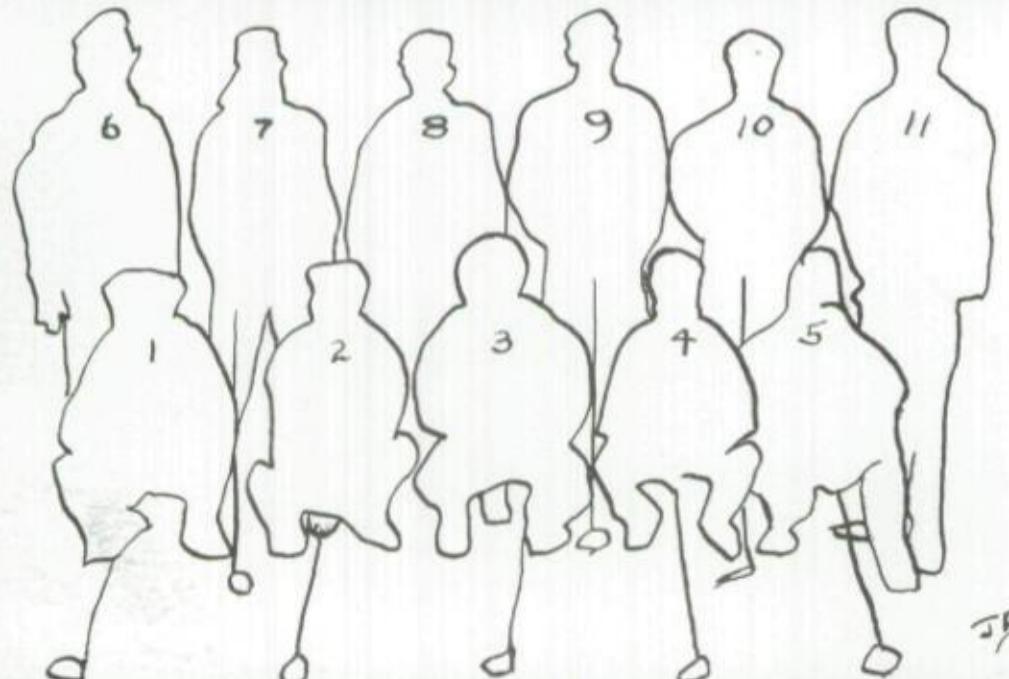

SPORTS

"When you play, you go out there and play against your man. You try to keep as close as possible to him without being totally embarrassed." (John Shaw) "In golf, the only thing to do is concentrate. You just can't go out there and play; you have to know what you're doing." (Charlie Balmes) "Golf is an individual sport. You do your own job, and, unlike all the other sports, your teammates can't make up for your mistakes. You have to develop your own style and game."

"The coach is not very much help to you. He is there mostly to organize the game. You develop your own kind of style and game by all the mistakes you make." "A mistake of about a half of an inch might not be bad, but by the time you see the ball land it could end up to be around twenty yards off." "In the springtime I like coaching and playing at the same time." (Coach Czocher) "We expect to beat Lake Forest. For the last time they've been tops." (Dirk Skelly) "You shoot this little white ball around, you watch the creeping bent grass, and it takes the most concentration that you have got. You've got to apply yourself. It takes about 85% mental effort and about 15% physical effort."

"The practices seem longer and longer all the time." "Track is really hard. It's you against one person. You've always got to work hard because someone is always counting on you." (T.M.) "You have to discipline yourself in preparing for a meet. If you get lazy and let yourself go, you're not track material." "Once you let your muscles go, it's hard to get back into shape." "It takes so much mental energy that sometimes you're exhausted before you start."

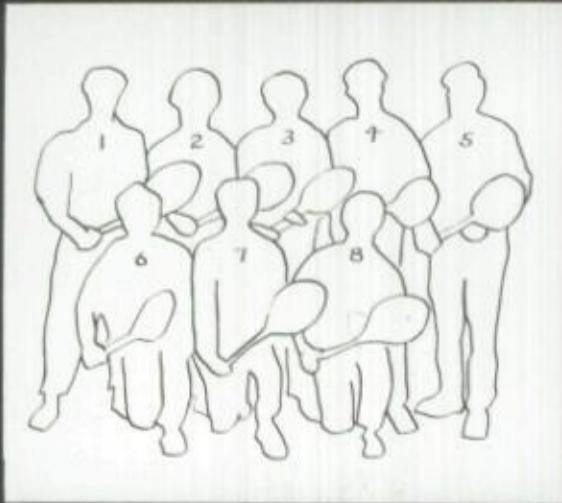

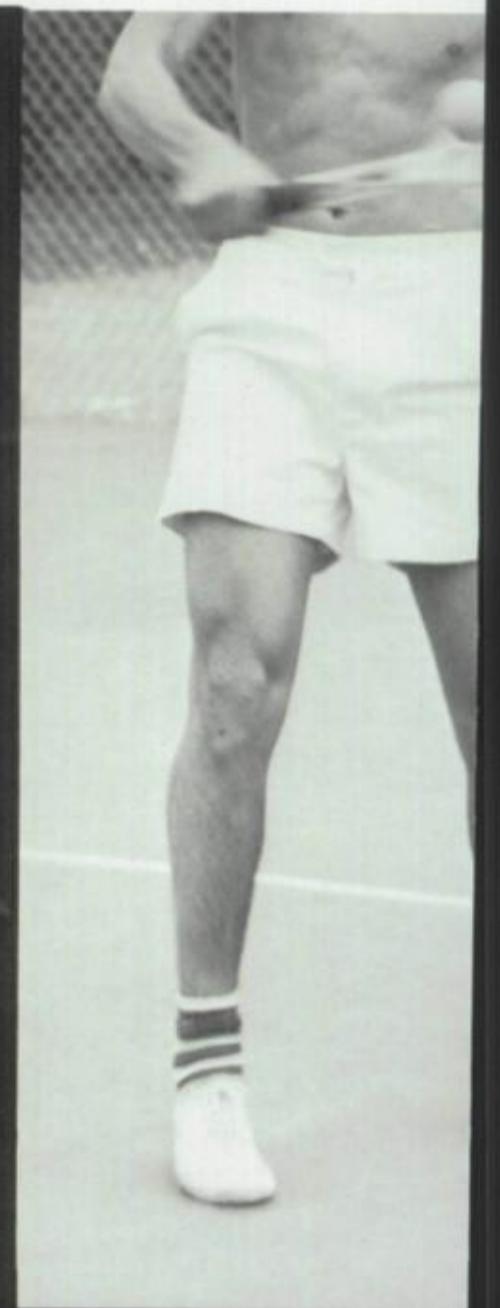

"The 440 is tough. You feel so good when it's over." (Ron Adams) "The last 10 is always the hardest. I like the competition because it really makes you work." (D. Espinoza) "You've really got to concentrate, especially in the field events. But running is different; if you've got speed, you've got it made." (Pat Maule) "I like to be a good sport about it. I just try to get in a good position and the best man will win." (Pat Hernandez)

"With Bader it's different — We used to go out and play tennis. Now we go out and play tennis right. Like everything he coaches, Bader wants to win and he insists on perfection." (John Elsbury) "You always see guys leaping over the net after their spectacular win. One day I really felt like a tennis pro, so I leaped over the stupid thing and fell flat on my face. I was really embarrassed." "It rained all day long, but we had the meet anyway. There was about an inch of water on the court. The ball would just splash and kind of float away."

"I think that I'd really be terrific in baseball if I could see the ball and if I could catch." "You have to be able to take it. You can't be afraid. The game at the end of the week is fun because you put in a lot of work all week." "After last season in baseball, I've decided what I really want to do: I'm going to be a professional bench warmer. They usually hire you on experience. I think I've had more than anyone." "I just get up there and hope he walks me because I know I can't hit worth anything today. But he doesn't; he whips pitches at me and I don't think. All I want to do is knock one down his throat." "I was always afraid of making a mistake. Sometimes I would like the ball hit my way, but only if I knew I could make the play." "To slide into base is really terrific. It gets your uniform all dirty, and makes it look like you really played a hard game." "In the games you just stand around." (Jim Storc)

"On the bench we'd sit and crack up watching our pitcher try to be a hard guy; so would the other team." "When there are 2 outs and nobody on, you just don't want to be the one that's up next. You just know you're going to make the third out." "Umpires? Oh, they could see better in 1492."

SUMMER VACATION

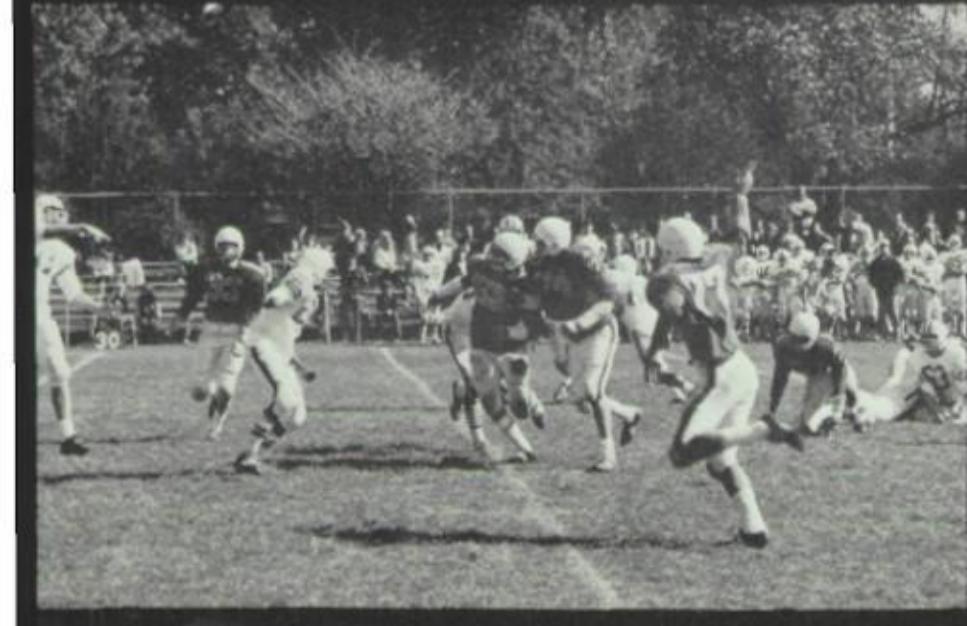

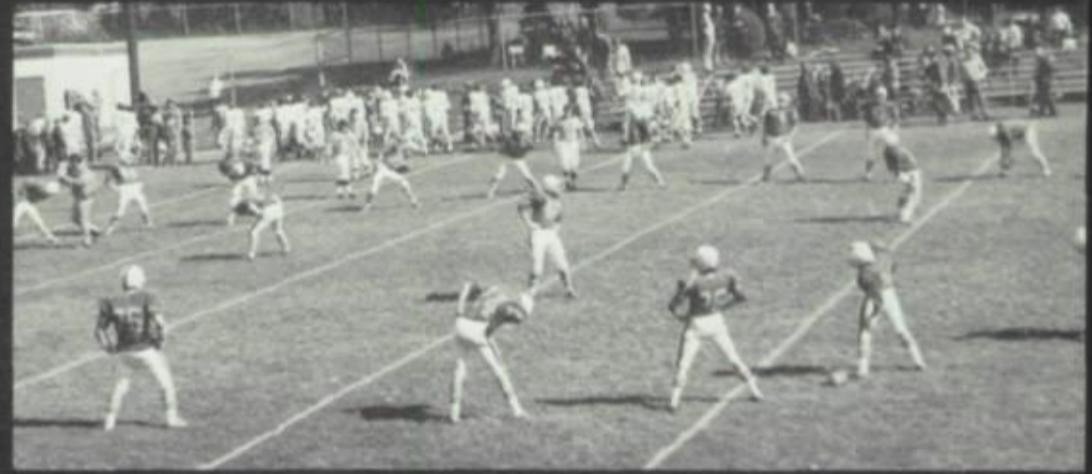

"I'll always remember the first practice of the season; I've never been so sore in my whole life." "During the season you sometimes wonder if it's all worth it. But when they call your name at the banquet it all seems worth it." "After a practice when you come in, just having every bone and muscle in your body is the best feeling in the world." "There is nothing like torture to make you realize how good you have it." "I think about how I just about died after doing windsprints one night at practice. I think I was about to die when the coach came over and yelled at us for goofing off." "After football I don't have any respect for things. I really get a destructive mind, and all I want to do is go out and rip some guy apart just because he is looking at me."

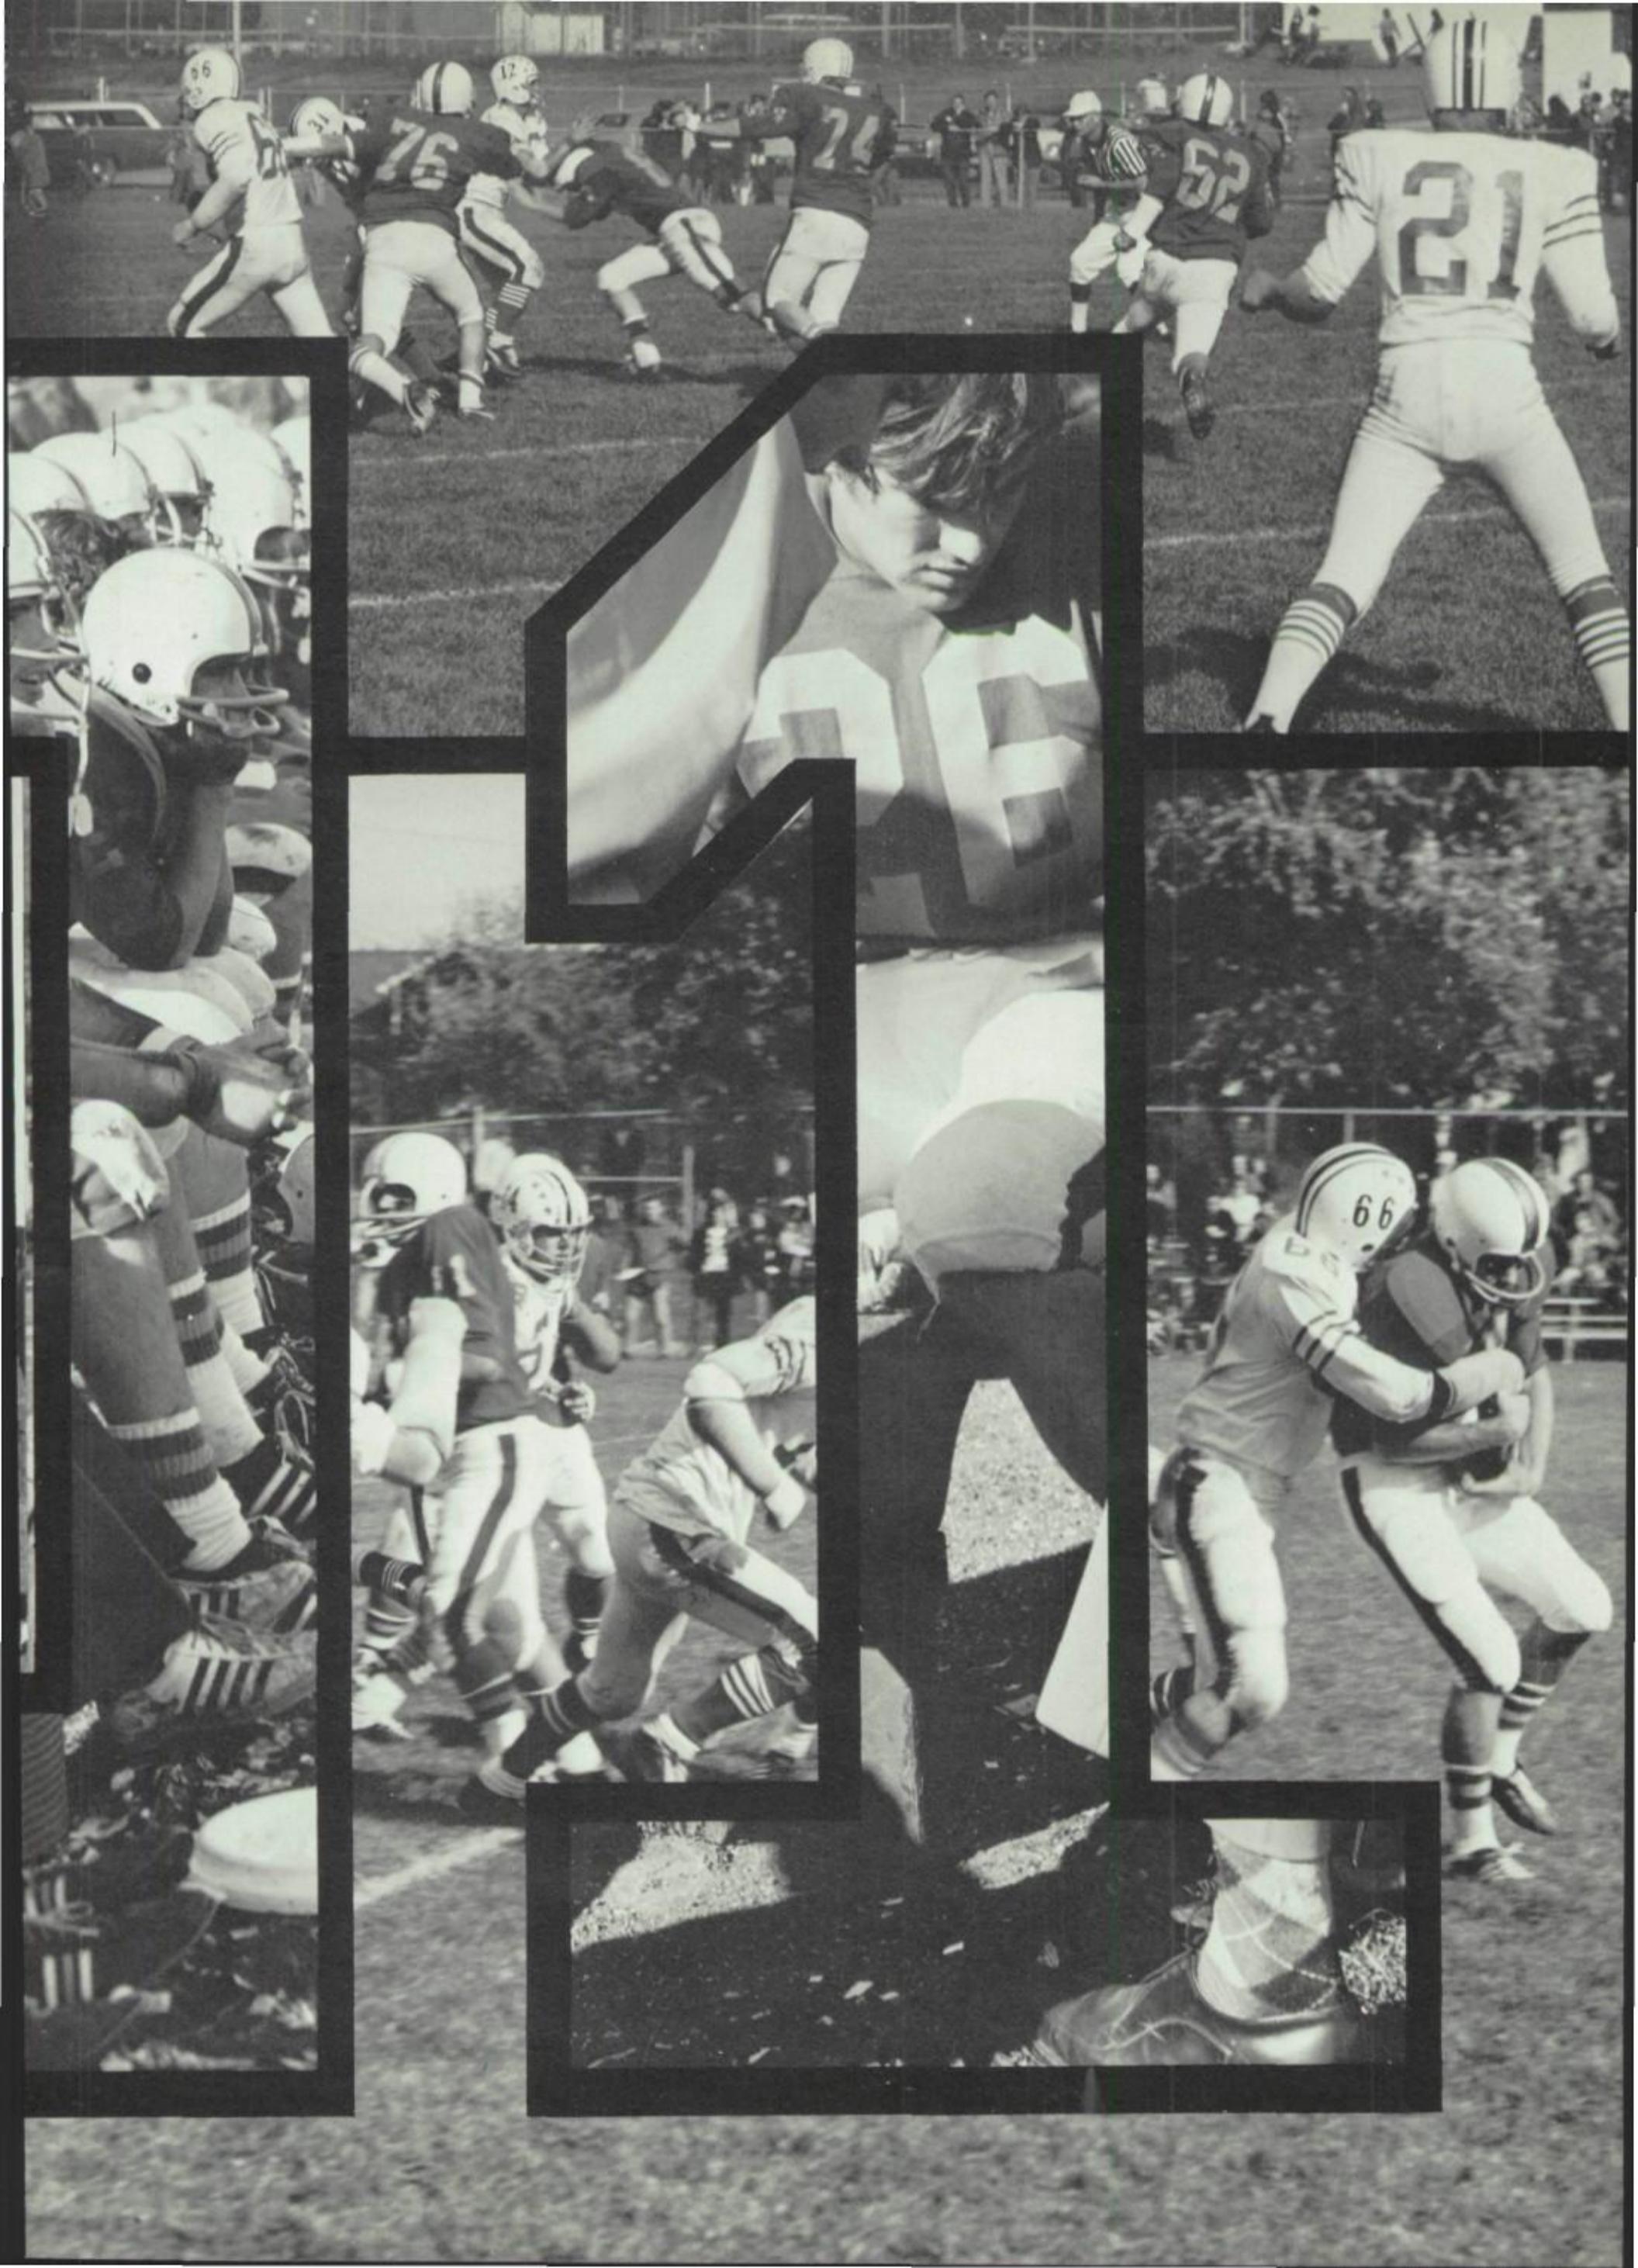

Football

"Everyone thinks that football is all fun and games. Would I like to tell them a thing or two about running in the mud with all those mosquitos after you. Believe me you better not slow down if you want to remain alive out there." "I guess I'm what you call a benchwarmer. I sit there on the bench and think about what it would be like to play, and I think that maybe its a good thing that I am where I am." "I thought the Lake Forest game would never end. It was pure hell. All I could worry about was whether or not we could hold them. All week long at practice you could see how much everyone wanted to win the game. It meant a lot to every guy on the team." "It hurts not to get to play when you know that you can go out on that field and knock the heck out of one of their guys. All the time you just ask yourself why the coach hasn't put you in. You just keep asking yourself, and the bad part is when you can answer your own question without even having to think too hard." "You've got to be a team. There is no way possible to think as individuals and be the best there is."

"Before a race, I can't talk to anyone. I'm always very scared. I think to myself that I'm gonna go out and beat all these guys. I know I can do it, because I know I'm better than all these guys. I know that deep down I'm better because I've worked harder than any of them." "Even if I have all the confidence in the world it's still hard to fight off that sick feeling in my stomach and to keep my adrenalin flowing. No matter what I know, at the start of the race my legs and stomach will go weak and I'll feel like jelly." "I think that cross country is the closest thing to hell without having first hand knowledge." "The work and the hours and hours of practice are all worth it when I win."

"I like wrestling a lot because I like to see people work hard to gain respect, and in wrestling you have really got to work hard to get it." "As an outsider looking in, it takes a strong individual, both mentally and physically." "Sweat, muscle, and strength are what a wrestler thrives on. Without them the team and the wrestler are lost." "I've never been to a wrestling match, or even a wrestling practice, but I've heard that it really takes guts to be a wrestler; I can really see why. You're out on the mat all alone with no one to depend on but yourself. If you let up for one moment you can be pinned. The whole meet could be decided by the fact that you won or lost. You must win or lose all self respect and know that you and you alone let the team down. But as in all sports there must be a loser; even though you don't want to, you accept the loss and take it in stride."

"When you get pinned, your ego deflates for a while, but to be a good wrestler you must keep your head high and try again. Each time try with more dedication and determination than the time before, until you know that you are the best there is. Then and only then can you rest." "I started out being pinned every time, and the guys would always laugh and want to wrestle me for practice just to improve their personal record. Well, I kept trying to improve. Now, I laugh and wrestle them for practice to improve my personal record." "It makes me want to cry for one of those guys when they lose. They really try, but those six minutes are murder. They give their all." "When a guy loses, he doesn't want your pity; he wants to know that you were behind him one-hundred percent; Even though he lost, you won't hold it against him or the team. He hopes, that even though you were disappointed by his loss, you will be out rooting for him next time."

"I think kids go to basketball games to have fun. The group I go with yells and screams to promote the winning spirit." "I go and talk with friends but don't watch the game unless it gets exciting. Then I scream." "It used to be fantastic to see our team win, even with the refs making bad calls. When I was a freshman I came to see the games; now kids come more or less to see their friends and use up an otherwise boring Friday or Saturday night." "Before a game I always go over the last game, and go step by step over the maneuvers I made so I don't make the same mistake twice." "Misery is being a five-foot tall guard when the guard on the opposing team is six-five." "One nice thing about winning a basketball game is that algebra class with Mr. Gordon on Mondays is much easier than on any other day of the week." "I think basketball players must really like the game to go out and shoot baskets every day." "Warren's basketball record doesn't show how good they really are."

"Four years seems so long at the start. You change so much in those years. It seems that you finally start to find the real you, the one that matters. It's the first step in finding who you are."

Pam,

To a really great kid, who's the only one I know who misses ~~as~~ many fly balls as I do in softball!
(Only kiddin') It's really been fun in gym and chorus.
Hope we have some classes together next year. Stay as sweet as you are! By the way, how's the company?

Yours,
Kathy C.

I am good luck next year and I hope you have a nice summer
Mark B.
